Effort Reporting Training

Presented by the Budget Office &
The Office of Sponsored Programs
Legal Basis for Effort Reporting

- Effort reporting is the mechanism used to confirm that salaries and wages charged to each sponsored agreement are reasonable in relation to the actual work performed.

- Effort reporting is required by OMB Circular A-21(J)(10) (relocated to 2CFR, 220), the OMB Uniform Guidance (2CFR 200), and other federal regulations.
Legal Basis for Effort Reporting

• In all contracts with the Government, and agencies dealing with the government, a line stating “includes all other FAR clauses” is inserted. Federal Acquisition Regulations holds us responsible for proper documentation of effort as stated in OMB Circular A-21 (relocated to 2CFR, Part 220) and Uniform Guidance 2CFR 200.

• Why do we do this?
  • It is the law. We have no choice, if we want to continue to receive awards from the government.
Effort Reporting Audits

As a result of the Government paying closer attention to Effort Reporting the following University’s have incurred fines for not being in compliance.

- University of Alabama-Birmingham - $3.4m
- Florida International University - $11.5m
- Yale University - $7.6m
- Northwestern University – $5.5m
- Johns Hopkins University - $2.6m
- Harvard University
- California Institute of Technology
How the University & Individual are Held Responsible

- The Federal False Claims Act, 31 U.S.C §§ 3729-3733
  - A criminal statute making it punishable by fines or imprisonment for those who submit a false claim.
  - An Effort Report is considered a claim under the False Claims Act.
  - We are required by law to submit an after-the-fact claim, which is your Effort Report.
How the Government Finds Out

- Qui Tam Action
  - Latin saying meaning to sue on behalf of the king.
  - Commonly known as the Whistleblower Act.
  - Someone within the institution notifies the inspector general of a non-compliance issue. If it is valid, the whistleblower will receive 10% of what the government collects in penalties and fines.
  - UAB is a perfect example, as their investigation began because of a Qui Tam action by someone in their Office of Sponsored Programs department.

Adjustments made, if necessary (RETRO’s)
The Proposal

• A proposal is submitted to the funding agency. Committed Effort for key personnel during the funding period is listed.

• As not all proposals are awarded, you are allowed to over commit your time in the proposal process for an amount over 100%.
  • Example: you currently have 70% of your time committed to other awards and you send out three proposals of 25% for a possible total effort of 145%.

• Once the proposals are awarded, total effort for all awards currently being worked on should equal 100%. Awards may need to be modified so that all of the agreements’ effort totals 100%. Please contact your contract administrator for assistance.
Actual Effort

- Actual effort is recorded to the contracts through payroll charges submitted by your bi-weekly BLLR’s.

- At the end of each semester, the Effort Report will be created for individuals who are funded by, or have charged to, a research or cost share account for that timeframe. The Effort Report presents the actual commitment (charged payroll).

- When you certify your Effort, you are certifying the actual effort worked. You are making a claim for funds for your work.
The Effort Report

- The effort report will be available for review and certification through Banner Self-Service for the certification period. You will review the information and certify it with an electronic signature.

- You will have the ability to compare against past Effort Reports in a read-only format to assist you in ensuring the effort is correct after the first reporting cycle is complete.

- If adjustments are needed to correct your actual effort, a Retro must be completed in accordance with established policy.
  - A revised Effort Report will be generated after the Retro is processed, and you will be notified to review and certify the revised effort report.
Researcher Certification

- There will be a 10 day window for the report to be reviewed and approved.
  - If the report is not certified within the 10 day window, follow-ups will be done by the Effort Reporting Office.
  - If the follow-ups are ignored, your immediate supervisor and the division Vice President may be notified.
  - If necessary, the University will take further actions to ensure you certify your Effort Report and are in compliance with Federal Law.

- You should NOT delegate this responsibility to anyone else.
  - You are responsible for what is certified, as this is a claim to the government. If you delegate this responsibility and the report is certified when it is wrong, you are responsible. You may be subject to fines and imprisonment, not the person you delegated it to.

- Individuals who report their time hourly have certified their time when they turn in their BLLR and will not be required to re-certify their effort.
What Happens if I Don’t Certify?

- UAH penalties may include:
  - Return of funding to the awarding agency
  - Freezing of current awards
  - Debarment from research work
  - Personal disciplinary action

- Federal penalties may include:
  - Disallowed costs
  - Fines
  - Debarment from Federal work
  - And/or Imprisonment under the Federal False Claims Act
How to View Your Effort Report

To View the Report

Login into Banner Self-Service

Frequently Asked Questions

- Who do I call if I have questions?
  Call Candy Horch with all questions concerning Effort Reporting Certification.

- Who was involved in creating this policy?
  This policy was drafted by the Offices of Budgets & OSP. The draft was presented to the Vice Presidents, Research Council and Faculty Senate where feedbacks were received and revisions were made and resubmitted for review.
Frequently Asked Questions

- Are there different guidelines for different types of awards? No, all awards must follow this policy.

- Are we not certifying when we sign our BLLR? No, BLLR’s do not always represent true after-the-fact information.

- Is there a problem with working more on an award than you are charging? Yes, if you are working on a contract and not charging to it, who are you charging that time to? This could be a cost share that needs to be set up. (Contact the Office of Sponsored Programs)
What is the lag time between payroll and the certification report? There will be about 2-3 weeks in between. Each Effort Report will consist of full pay periods. For example the first report is pay periods 1-10.
