

2013 Scholars Institute Speaker Guide

Q: When am I speaking?

A: Once all speakers are confirmed and the agenda established, all speakers will receive an email detailing the date and time of their selected session(s). Session times and dates are also listed on the SI 2013 website.

Q: What audiovisual equipment will be available in the room in which I am presenting?

A: Each room will have a computer that is internet enabled and include Windows 7 OS, Adobe Reader, and Office 2010 (excluding MS Project). Additionally, the room will be equipped with an LCD projector, projection screen, Smart Podium (interactive monitor to allow for ink annotations), ELMO document camera, DVD playback, speakers, and a wireless presenter with laser pointer. (Hands-on workshop style sessions will be scheduled in computer labs.) You may bring your own computer, but we cannot guarantee Internet connectivity. If you require any other equipment or have other needs for your presentation, please let us know by no later than May 10, 2013 by sending an email to us with your detailed request at SI2013@uah.edu.

Q: What format should my presentation be given in during the conference?

A: Many presenters prefer to present using Microsoft PowerPoint or a similar software program. We do have PowerPoint loaded on each in-room speaker computer, therefore presenting in a PowerPoint is desirable, though not required. If you will be using an alternative program to present, please notify us in advance. Likewise, if your presentation will require audio/video, we also need to be notified in advance to ensure that the proper hardware and software are provided for your presentation.

Q: Will I need to provide a copy of my presentation prior to the conference?

A: Yes, we will be requesting a copy of your presentation in advance, sent to the SI2013@uah.edu no later than May 15, 2013.

Q: Once I'm on site at UAH, where and when do I report for my session?

A: Your meeting room assignment will be given to you in a final speaker confirmation email. Please plan to be at (if empty) our outside of (if occupied) your meeting room at least 20 minutes prior to your session to meet up with your co-presenter(s) and begin preparations for your presentation. Our AV technicians will assist with your presentation and set up if needed, and a moderator or session chair will introduce you as well as track time for you during the session.

Q: How and when will my session be evaluated?

A: Session evaluations will be made available online to attendees for completion after sessions as well for at least 1 week after the conference. Presenters will be provided with feedback regarding their sessions after the conclusion of the conference.

Q: Will someone be there to alert me to time keeping or moderate Q&A, where applicable?

A: There will be a moderator for each session that will introduce the speaker(s). Additionally, the moderator will provide time cues and moderate Q&A, where applicable.

Q: Do I need to provide handouts, and if so, how many?

A: We ask that speakers planning to distribute handouts bring at least 35 for their session. Handouts are not required, but this is a nice option to provide to your attendees.

Q: Will my session be recorded or live-streamed?

A: One concurrent session for each time period will be streamed. If your session was selected for streaming, you will be notified in advance of SI2013 to request you complete a Speaker Release Form, which allows us to record and stream your sessions. Streaming/recording will be managed on-site by our AV technicians will be responsible for all recording/streaming, so there is nothing you need to do to set this up or manage it. It will all be handled for you!

Q: Who is my audience at the Scholars Institute?

A: The Scholars Institutes tends to attract a specific group of faculty and administrators from our 3 campuses (UA, UAB, and UAH)—those most interested in utilizing technology in their teaching and learning, and those most focused on student-centered teaching and learning processes. We recruit from this group for our presenters, conference organizers, and invited attendees. Therefore the population attending will likely be quite interested in learning about effective use of technologies, best practices in how these technologies have been used in your specific research/teaching/activities. Most participants attend with at least a moderate level of knowledge and understanding already in hand relating to educational technology and technological tools, so presentations should in most cases be designed at an intermediate level and above.

Some Tips on Presenting at the Scholars Institute, Adapted from TEDTalks:

These 10 tips are given to all TED Conference speakers as they prepare their TEDTalks, and many apply to the group of individuals who will be attending at the 2013 Scholars Institute. The original document can be viewed here: The TED Commandments

1. Dream big. Strive to create the best talk you have ever given. Reveal something never seen before. Do something the audience will remember forever. Share an idea that could change the world.
2. Show us the real you. Share your passions, your dreams ... and also your fears. Be vulnerable. Speak of failure as well as success.
3. Make the complex plain. Don't try to dazzle intellectually. Don't speak in abstractions. Explain! Give examples. Tell stories. Be specific.
4. Connect with people's emotions. Make us laugh! Make us cry!
5. Don't flaunt your ego. Don't boast. It's the surest way to switch everyone off.
6. No selling from the stage! Unless we have specifically asked you to, do not talk about your company or organization. And don't even think about pitching your products or services or asking for funding from stage.
7. Feel free to comment on other speakers' talks, to praise or to criticize. Controversy energizes! Enthusiastic endorsement is powerful!
8. Don't read your talk. Notes are fine. But if the choice is between reading or rambling, then read!
9. End your talk on time. Doing otherwise is to steal time from the people that follow you. We won't allow it.
10. Rehearse your talk in front of a trusted friend ... for timing, for clarity, for impact.
