A NARROW MINOR...

Minor in Sociology

A student developing a minor in sociology with a major in another discipline must complete 21 hours of sociology courses, including SOC 100. A minimum of 12 hours should be in courses numbered 300 or above.

A minor in sociology is an excellent supplement to a major in other fields such as secondary education, philosophy, communication arts, business, nursing, and engineering. People in most careers can benefit from a deeper understanding of human behavior and social organization.
