7. FACULTY PERSONNEL POLICIES & PROCEDURES

7.1 Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action Statement

The University of Alabama in Huntsville is committed to making employment opportunities available to qualified applicants and employees and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including marital or parental status), pregnancy, sexual orientation, age, disability, citizenship, genetic information, or status as a Vietnam-era, special disabled, or other eligible veteran. All personnel actions and programs shall be administered in accordance with this equal opportunity policy. These actions and programs include recruitment, selection, assignment, classification, promotion, demotion, transfer, layoff and recall, termination, determination of wages, conditions and benefits of employment, etc. It is the intent of the University that, in all aspects of employment, individuals shall be treated without unlawful discrimination on any of the foregoing bases, and that employment decisions shall instead be premised upon a person’s ability, experience, and other job-related qualifications.

Additionally, the University is an affirmative action employer of women, minorities, individuals with a disability, and Vietnam-era, special disabled, and other eligible veterans. It is committed to making sustained, diligent efforts to identify and consider such individuals for employment and for opportunities arising during employment. The University is also committed to equal educational opportunity for all qualified students and does not unlawfully discriminate in its educational policies, practices, programs, or activities on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including marital or parental status), pregnancy, sexual orientation, age, disability, citizenship, genetic information, or veteran status. Its admissions, financial aid, athletics, student services, and other programs are administered in accordance with this policy.

Discrimination, under this policy, shall be understood to include harassment carried out through unwelcome verbal or physical conduct directed at one or more individuals on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, or disability. To be unlawful in an employment context, enduring such harassment must become a condition of continued employment or the conduct must be sufficiently severe or pervasive to create a working environment that is intimidating, hostile, or abusive. Offensive jokes, objects, or pictures; slurs and epithets; physical threats and assaults; intimidation; insults; etc. are among the actions that may constitute harassment. Potential violations of this policy will be evaluated from the perspective of a reasonable person in the victim’s situation, taking into account all the circumstances.

With regard to students, such harassment is unlawful when it unreasonably interferes with or limits the student’s ability to participate in or benefit from services, activities, or privileges provided by the educational institution. A violation also occurs when, through such harassment, an educational institution has created or is responsible for a hostile learning environment so severe, pervasive, or persistent that it adversely affects the student’s ability to participate in or benefit from the institution’s educational program.

Sexual harassment, in addition and more specifically, includes sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other conduct of a sexual nature that is unwelcome and is directed toward a person on the basis of that person’s sex. It may take one of two generally recognized forms. First, the employee’s or student’s submission to such conduct is made a condition, explicitly or implicitly, of access to an employment or academic opportunity; for the employee’s or student’s submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as the basis for employment or academic decisions.
affecting the individual, such as, for example, a salary or grade determination, respectively. This kind of harassment is sometimes referred to as "quid pro quo" ("something for something") or, alternatively, harassment that results in "tangible employment action." Secondly, hostile environment harassment occurs when the conduct is so severe, persistent, or pervasive that it unreasonably interferes with an individual's performance as an employee or student or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working/learning environment. Examples of actions that might be deemed to create a hostile environment based on sex could include flirtation, vulgar language, sexually suggestive jokes, touching of a sexual nature, displaying or distributing sexually explicit materials, etc.

The University also prohibits retaliation against employees or students who engage in protected activities. Protected activities include making, in good faith, a complaint of discrimination or harassment, assisting others in making a complaint, otherwise opposing such acts or practices, or participating in an investigation, proceeding, or lawsuit. Threats, intimidation, reprisals, and/or other adverse actions related to one's employment or academic status constitute retaliation if they may dissuade a reasonable employee or student from exercising his/her right to complain about the discrimination or harassment. In these respects, the University affirms its desire to create a work environment for all employees and a learning environment for all students that is fair, humane, and responsible - an environment that supports and rewards career and educational goals on the basis of such relevant factors as ability and employment or academic performance.

A University employee or student who is found, under established University procedures, to have been guilty of discriminatory conduct with respect to another member of the campus community in violation of these policies will be subject to discipline, up to and including possible dismissal or expulsion, by the University.

These commitments are designed to meet nondiscrimination/affirmative action requirements imposed by the following federal and state sources of legal obligation, as amended: Title VI and VII, Civil Rights Act of 1964; Executive Order 11246; Title IX, Education Amendments of 1972; the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990; the Equal Pay Act of 1963; the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967; the Age Discrimination Act of 1975; the Vietnam Era Veterans' Re-employment Assistance Act of 1974; the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986; the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008; the U.S. Constitution; contract and grant agreements with government agencies; the Alabama Age Discrimination Act of 1997; the Alabama Constitution of 1901. The University's equal opportunity policies pertaining to its employees and students include specific administrative procedures and implementing measures designed to carry out these pledges and to ensure compliance with the foregoing laws.

While the University has a legal requirement to abide by Federal and State Statutes, as educators for the next generation, we are also responsible for providing examples of non-discriminatory behavior and the ability to thrive utilizing such behavior.

Inquiries or complaints concerning the application of this policy or these federal and/or state requirements should be directed to the office of the Vice President for Diversity and Student Support Services.

7.2 Definitions

The faculty of the University of Alabama in Huntsville is defined as full-time or part-time members of the University who have been appointed by the University to one of the categories of faculty appointment specified in Section 7.2.1 in accordance with the appointment policies of the University and the Board of Trustees. Faculty members normally have responsibilities for teaching, scholarly and/or creative achievements, and service activities; however, faculty members may be assigned responsibilities for administrative tasks and some full-time administrators may have faculty status.

7.2.1 Categories of Faculty Status

There are two categories of faculty appointment: (1) tenured and tenure-track and (2) non-tenure-track earning.

7.2.1.1 Tenured and Tenure-track Faculty

Tenured faculty members are those who have been awarded tenure by the University in accordance with Board Rule 301 of the Board of Trustees of the University of Alabama [http://www.uasystem.ua.edu/board/Combined%20Board%20Manual.pdf]. Tenure may be granted at the time of the faculty member’s initial appointment to the faculty or following a probationary period in a tenure-track faculty position (See Sections 7.56.2 and 7.910). Tenure-track appointments are probationary appointments with an explicit provision in the contract or letter of offer for a review for tenure by the end of the probationary period. The four ranks of tenured and tenure-track faculty are, in ascending order: instructor, assistant professor, associate professor, and professor. Tenured and tenure-track faculty members normally have responsibilities in each of the three areas of teaching, scholarly and/or creative achievements, and service activities.
Some tenured faculty members may be assigned responsibilities for administrative tasks and some full-time administrators may have tenured faculty status. In rare cases, tenure-track faculty members may be assigned responsibilities for administrative tasks or serve as full-time administrators; such assignments require the agreement of the faculty member as well as the approval of the Department Chair, Dean, and Provost.

7.2.1.2 Nontenure-track Faculty

Nontenure-track faculty appointments are appointments in which the faculty member has neither been awarded tenure nor is eligible to be reviewed for tenure consideration. There are 45 subcategories of non-tenure track faculty: (1) research faculty, (2) clinical faculty, (3) library faculty, and (4) fixed-term appointment lecturers, and (5) fixed-term appointment faculty. Nontenure-track faculty members are ineligible to serve as department chairs or associate chairs. Nontenure-track faculty also are not eligible to serve on the University Review Board; college Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committees (PTAC); any search and appointment committees for tenured or tenure-track faculty; any reappointment committees for tenure-track faculty; or any departmental promotion or tenure committees for tenured or tenure-track faculty.
7.2.1.2.1 Research Faculty

Research faculty appointments are for faculty Selection and Appointment.

7.2.1.2.2 Clinical Faculty

Clinical faculty appointments are for a fixed period of time, normally ranging from one academic year to three years in duration. There is no limit to the number of times that a clinical faculty member can be reappointed. However, reappointment is based on curricular, enrollment, and financial factors as well as on the individual faculty member's performance. Clinical faculty members normally have responsibilities in each of the three areas: (1) teaching, including supervision of students in clinical or professional settings on- and off-campus; (2) scholarly and/or creative activities, especially related to clinical or professional practice; (3) service; and (4) clinical and professional practice. The four ranks of clinical faculty are, in ascending order: clinical instructor, clinical assistant professor, clinical associate professor, and clinical professor. These professorships are awarded to members of the faculty whose major responsibilities are in clinical teaching, clinical practice, and scholarly activity. These professorships are given to a department's faculty or a college's faculty in the case of a college without departments or divisions.

7.2.1.2.3 Librarians

Librarian appointments are non-tenure-track faculty appointments and are given either a (1) one-year appointment, or (2) an appointment that may continue for a stated period of time up to three years, renewable annually within that period, contingent on the faculty member's satisfactory performance, the availability of funds, and the instructional needs of the department. There is no limit to the number of years for which clinical appointments may be held, or that a Librarian can be reappointed. However, contract renewal or reappointment is always based on curricular, enrollment, and financial factors as well as on the individual faculty evaluation.

7.2.1.2.4 Lecturers

Lecturer is a term appointment for full-time, non-tenure-earning faculty who are appointed to serve special instructional needs in academic departments. Lecturers are eligible for selected university benefits and are included in considerations for merit salary increases.

7.2.1.2.5 Fixed-Term Appointment Faculty

Fixed-term appointments are for a delineated period of time and convey no right or expectation of employment beyond the period stated in the letter of appointment. Term appointments are normally for one semester or for one to three academic years but may be for longer or shorter periods as detailed in a letter of appointment. Notice of nonreappointment may be provided at any time prior to the end of the specified term. Fixed-term faculty appointments have the title of visiting professor. Fixed-term faculty members may be eligible for selected university benefits and benefits in accordance with Chapter 9. They are expected to participate in the academic programs of the unit.

In the department and makes a recommendation to the dean on continuing...
Adjunct and Part-Time Faculty

Adjunct faculty members have recognized professional qualifications and are assigned the rank of adjunct assistant professor, adjunct associate professor, or adjunct professor. The title is intended for individuals whose responsibilities include more than teaching or serving on graduate advisory committees and who have a continuing association with a department in some academic or professional capacity. Their duties, responsibilities, and responsibilities may vary between departments and colleges, but they are specified in the letter of appointment. Letters of appointment for adjunct faculty also define the length of the appointment, which may be for one to three years, with the initial appointment usually for one year. Adjunct faculty are not compensated except when they are engaged in teaching a course on a demand basis. Temporary faculty do not earn tenure nor may they participate in matters relating to personnel decisions in the department.

Temporary Faculty

Temporary faculty members are appointed to teach or carry out a specific task or tasks and their appointment is for the duration of the task. Usually, the task is to teach a course, serve on committees, or work on a project. Appointment is on the basis of demand in the academic department making the appointment. The task, associated responsibilities, and compensation are defined upon appointment.

Full-time and Part-time Status

A faculty member’s letter of appointment shall specify whether the appointment is to a position with full-time or part-time status. Although normally, tenured and tenure-track faculty, research faculty, clinical faculty, fixed-term appointment faculty, and librarians have full-time status, in some cases such faculty members may have part-time status. Part-time faculty teaching credit courses at the undergraduate level must have completed at least 12 graduate appointments normally are for a specified period of time, such as a semester or an academic year, but in some cases may be continuing appointments. Pay and benefits for part-time appointments may be less than for comparable full-time appointments.
7.2.1 Tenured or Tenure-Track Faculty

Normally, tenured and tenure-track faculty have full-time status. In some circumstances, however, a tenured or tenure-track faculty member whose initial appointment was full-time may seek to change to part-time status either to accommodate a disability or because of commitments elsewhere. Such commitments may be personal in nature (e.g., ill health, to care for a family member with a serious medical condition) or professional in nature (e.g., a part-time appointment with another university or a government agency). Tenured or tenure-track faculty on sick leave or parental leave shall retain full-time status.

A full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty member who wishes to change to part-time status may submit a written request for a change to part-time status to his or her department chair. The written request for change to part-time status shall specify the reasons for requesting the change and the duration for which they teach and hold at least a master’s degree, or hold the minimum of a master’s degree with a major in the discipline. The part-time status is requested. Any change from a full-time tenured or tenure-track position to a part-time tenured or tenure-track position shall require the agreement of the faculty member, as well as the approval of the faculty member’s department chair and dean, and the approval of the Provost. In cases involving disability or intermittent leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act, the Office of Counsel shall also be consulted. Part-time tenured or tenure track appointments shall be for a specified period of time, but may be extended at the faculty member’s request with the approval of the faculty member’s Department Chair and Dean, of the Provost, and where appropriate, the Office of Counsel. At the end of the period for part-time status, if a part-time tenured or tenure-track faculty member does not request an extension of part-time status, the faculty member shall resume full-time status.

A part-time tenured or tenure-track faculty member’s salary shall be prorated in proportion to the reduction in the faculty member’s workload. To the extent permitted by other university and system policies, a part-time tenured or tenure-track faculty member shall continue to receive employee benefits, although the University’s contribution to payment for benefits shall be prorated in proportion to the reduction in the faculty member’s workload. A part-time tenured or tenure-track faculty member shall be eligible for merit salary increases and support for scholarly and/or creative activities. A part-time tenured or tenure-track faculty member shall accrue service credits toward sabbatical leave on a prorated basis in proportion to the reduction in the faculty member’s workload. (For example, a faculty member who has worked for 2 academic years on a part-time schedule of 50% time would accrue 1 year of service credit toward a sabbatical leave.)

7.2.2.2 Nontenure-Track Non-tenure-earning Faculty

7.2.2.2.1 Research Faculty, Clinical Faculty, Librarians, Lecturers, and Fixed-Term Appointment

Research faculty appointments, clinical faculty appointments, library faculty/librarian appointments, and lecturer appointments are normally full-time, but may be part-time. The full-time or part-time status of these criteria must be justified and documented. The submission of official transcripts is a condition of part-time faculty employment. Sub-categories of faculty is determined at the time of their appointment and may be revised upon reappointment. To the extent permitted by other university and system policies, a part-time research faculty member, clinical faculty member, Librarian, or fixed-term appointment faculty member shall continue to receive employee benefits, although the University’s contribution to payment for benefits shall be prorated in proportion to the reduction in the faculty member’s workload. To the extent permitted by other university and system policies, a part-time research faculty member, clinical faculty member, Librarian, or fixed-term appointment faculty member shall continue to receive employee benefits, although the University’s contribution to payment for benefits shall be prorated in proportion to the reduction in the faculty member's workload.
In the faculty member's workload, part-time lecturers do not earn tenure, nor may they participate in matters relating to personnel decisions in the department. Part-time lecturers shall be eligible for merit salary increases.
7.2.4.3 Special Titles

7.2.3.1 Faculty Holding Prestigious and Named Professorships

Board of Trustees Rule 370.508 permits the establishment of special academic chairs and the appointment of prestigious and named professorships. All named professorships and academic chairs are established by Board action. Appointments to fill these professorships are made by the Board of Trustees after recommendation by the Provost, the President, and the Chancellor. In order to maintain adequate uniformity and the highest degree of prestige and selectivity in the establishment of chairs and professorships, to assure academic excellence, and to provide the highest honor in the selection of recipients, the Board has adopted policies that recognize classifications of prestigious professorships. See Appendix C.

7.2.4.4 Emeritus Faculty

A tenured faculty member, research faculty member, Librarian member, or clinical faculty member with ten years of full-time service to the university shall be awarded emeritus status at his or her professorial rank upon retirement. The faculty member's Dean shall initiate the process for awarding the Emeritus Professor title.

7.2.4.4 Joint Appointments

A tenured, tenure-track, clinical, or research faculty member may also have a joint appointment with more than one department or unit. For a tenure-track faculty member, one department shall be considered for emeritus status (Section 7.10.1).

7.2.5.5 Academic and Calendar Years

7.2.5.1 Academic Year

The academic year encompasses the fall and spring semesters. The official beginning of the academic year is noted on the university calendar; faculty members are expected, on that date, to be available for student advising, departmental and university meetings, or other faculty responsibilities. The academic year concludes with spring commencement.

7.2.5.2 Calendar Year

A calendar year appointment is defined as a period of twelve months, or for a term specified in the letter of offer. The beginning and ending dates of calendar year appointments are specified in the letter of offer to the faculty member and are not necessarily tied to the academic calendar.
7.1.2.6. Equivalents to the Department and Department Chair

Throughout the rest of this chapter, in the College of Nursing, the College is the equivalent of the Department and the Associate Dean is the equivalent to the Department Chair; in the Library the Library Director is the equivalent of the Department Dean and the Assistant to the Dean Director of the Library is the equivalent to the Department Chair.

7.23. Types of Contracts

7.23.1. Tenure-Earning Track Faculty Contracts

The provisions of this section apply to both full-time and part-time tenure-track faculty.

7.23.1.1. The Probationary Period

The probationary period is defined as the maximum length of time between the initial appointment as a member of the tenure-track faculty and end of the latest academic year in which tenure may be awarded or denied. For appointees whose initial appointment to the tenure-track faculty begins in the fall semester, the probationary period shall be no more than six years in length, unless extended subject to the provisions stated below in Section 7.23.1.4. For appointees whose initial appointment to the tenure-track faculty begins in the spring semester, the probationary period contract ends no more than six years from the beginning of the first fall semester following the date of initial appointment.

7.23.1.2. Initial Appointment Contracts

Appointment as a tenure-earning track member of the faculty requires a recommendation by at least a majority of the tenured and tenure-earning track faculty of the department or program concerned and an affirmative recommendation to the provost by the dean of the college concerned. No offer or appointment, either written or verbal, may be extended without the approval of the provost.

We assume that such appointments are full-time. In rare instances, a temporary period of part-time status may be requested by the candidate. In such cases, this shall be stated in the letter of offer.

The dean shall inform each new appointee in a written letter of offer of the terms and conditions of the appointment, including but not limited to: (a) the length of the probationary period; (b) the length of the initial appointment; (c) the salary and fringe benefits applicable to the appointment; (d) the policies and procedures applying to reappointment, promotion, and tenure determinations; and (e) in cases of joint appointments, designation of the department that will be the faculty member’s primary department. Official transcripts are required as a condition of employment-tenure home. In cases where the probationary period is less than six years, the letter of offer also shall specify when the faculty member will be reviewed for reappointment in accordance with Section 7.89.2. Otherwise, the initial appointment contract for tenure-track faculty members shall be for all faculty.
7.23  Reappointment Contracts

Reappointment contracts are normally made for a period of one academic year offered in accordance with the schedule and procedures specified in Section 7.8.2 until a tenure-track faculty member is: (a) granted tenure, or (b) receives a notice of non-reappointment, or (c) is discharged for cause. Reappointment, or (d) is based on the current need terminated for failure to perform academic duties in accordance with generally accepted norms prior to the end of the university.

7.23.1.4 Extensions of the Probationary Period

The probationary period may be extended a maximum of one additional year in cases where the tenure-track faculty member's productivity is temporarily reduced because of extenuating circumstances. These extenuating circumstances, including but not limited to, when the faculty member has experienced a serious or chronic illness or short-term disability, the birth of a child, the serious illness of a family member, or extensive involuntary time commitments to duty in the uniformed services. The faculty member shall submit a request for the extension, stating including a statement of the reasons for the extension, to the department chair. Requests for extension must be acted upon by the chair, the appropriate dean, and the provost.

The decision of a tenure-track faculty to opt for part-time status shall not automatically result in an extension of the probationary period. An extension of the probationary period shall be automatic for faculty members who require intermediate-term sick leave, long-term sick leave, or parental leave. Faculty members whose productivity has been adversely affect by time spent on Family and Medical Leave Act Leave, Uniformed Services Leave, and Short-Term Sick Leave may also be eligible for an extension of the probationary period.

A faculty member who has been granted an extension of the probationary period may choose to be evaluated for tenure during the last year of probationary period originally specified in his or her letter of appointment by giving notification to his or her department chair of this decision by May 1 in the year preceding the academic year in which the tenure review will occur; such a faculty member shall not be considered a candidate for “early tenure” and shall not have to meet the criteria for early tenure specified in Section 7.56.2.1.

7.23  Terminal Contracts

A tenure-track faculty member who has been reviewed for reappointment and who has been given a notice of non-reappointment shall be given a terminal contract for one academic year. A tenure-track faculty member who has been denied tenure shall be given a terminal contract for one academic year. A tenure-track faculty member who has been discharged for cause is not entitled to a terminal contract. A tenure-track faculty member who is terminated without appeal at any time prior to the end of the first full academic year of the faculty member’s initial contract for failure to perform academic duties in accordance with generally accepted norms is not entitled to a terminal contract.
7.23.2 Tenured Faculty Contracts

Once awarded, tenure will be strictly observed in accordance with the guidelines in the AAUP Policy Documents and Reports (1990-2006) and consistent with University of Alabama System guidelines.

The definition of tenure to be used in each campus institutional policy should recognize that tenure is an affirmative commitment by the Board of Trustees to a faculty member, generally offered after a probationary period of employment, of a right to continuing employment except upon dismissal for cause, retirement, resignation, bona fide financial exigency of the campus institution or division in which tenure is held, or major curtailment or formal discontinuance of a program or department of instruction.

University of Alabama System Board Rule 301, as amended November 15, 2008, further states that tenure is held by a faculty member "only at the institution in which tenure has been awarded, not in the System as a whole."

A tenure contract is for an academic year and gives the faculty member the contractual right to be employed for succeeding academic years until the faculty member: (1) resigns, (2) retires, (3) is discharged for cause, (4) is terminated pursuant to bona fide financial exigency, or of the institution or division in which tenure is held, or a major curtailment or formal discontinuance of a program or department of instruction, (5) becomes permanently disabled and the disability prevents the faculty member from performing the essential functions of the job with or without reasonable accommodation that does not cause undue hardship to the university, or (6) dies. This contract is subject to the terms and conditions of employment that exist from one academic or calendar year to the next, but such terms will not be inconsistent with this policy, nor will a faculty member be reduced in rank except for just cause.

Tenure is normally awarded after a probationary period, but may be awarded to a faculty member at the time of first employment. Criteria and procedures for awarding tenure are specified in Sections 7.56.2 and 7.101, respectively.

7.4 Faculty Search, Appointment, and Orientation Procedures

7.4.3.2 Tenure at Time of First Appointment

Re: Recruiting, Selection, and Appointment of Tenured and Tenure-Earning Track Faculty

Responsibility for recruiting prospective faculty members lies with the Department Chair and the faculty of the department. If a joint appointment is contemplated, the Chair and faculty of the department that would be the faculty member’s tenure home shall have primary responsibility for recruitment, but shall involve the Chair and faculty of other secondary departments with which the faculty member is expected to have a joint appointment (hereafter referred to as the secondary
7.4.1.1 Approval to Recruit

Faculty appointment follows the identification of the existence of a need, together with administrative approval of the availability of funds for the position. Prior to initiating a search, the Department Chair must submit a written request and justification for identifying prospective hiring to the Dean and the Provost and must obtain their approval for the search and their authorization of funds for the position.

7.4.1.2 Appointment and Composition of the Search Committee

Once such approval is obtained, the Department Chair is responsible for appointing a faculty search committee consisting of . This committee shall include the Department Chair, at least two other faculty members, and one tenured or tenure-track faculty member from outside the department. The Department Chair may serve as chair (chairs, if of the committee or may appoint a tenured faculty member in the department and in the discipline in which the new faculty member is being recruited to serve as chair. The committee chair will be a member of the hiring department. In multidisciplinary departments (e.g., Economics and Information Systems), a majority of the members and the Search Committee Chair shall be tenured and tenure-track faculty members in the discipline in which the new faculty member is being recruited. If a joint appointment is being contemplated, the committee also shall include the Chair and at least one other tenured faculty member from each secondary department. The Committee Chair and a majority of the members of the search committee must be from the tenure-home department. The search committee will regularly report to the Department Chair or Dean’s representative.

7.4.1.3 Recruitment and Selection of Finalists for the Position

The Search Committee is responsible for developing a position announcement and for developing and implementing a plan for recruiting an applicant pool for the position. The position announcement, in addition to describing the position, shall identify required credentials and shall identify a deadline by which a candidate must provide the search committee with such information. Recruitment activities may include, but are not limited to print and electronic advertising, attending job fairs at professional conferences, and soliciting peer- and self-nominations.

The Search Committee is responsible for gathering information about the applicants. Such information must include, but is not limited to the following: (1) a statement of the candidate’s interest from the candidate, (2) completed resumes, (3) a complete resume, (3) three professional written references, and (4) a copy of recent written work. A sample of the candidate’s written research or appropriate evidence of the candidate’s scholarly and/or creative achievements as specified by the Search Committee. The references must be... submitted by the individual writing them for the candidate, and not by the candidate. As a condition of employment, official—the candidate's official college transcripts also must be submitted to the dean of the college in which an appointment is held.
The appointee will have a tenure home. Other sources of information that may be used to screen candidates include, but are not limited to: telephone calls to colleagues of the candidate, telephone interviews of the candidate, "googling" the candidate, background investigations of the candidate, preliminary informal interviews of the candidate at job fairs or professional conferences, a review of the candidate's scholarly and/or creative achievements, evaluations of the candidate's teaching performance at other colleges or universities, and other appropriate means of determining the candidate's suitability for employment as a faculty member at UAH.

The Search Committee is responsible for using the information gathered about candidates to identify a short list of at least three finalists for the position and presenting this list to the tenured and tenure-track faculty in the tenure-home department, who shall vote on whether or not to accept the finalists; if any of the finalists are rejected, the Search Committee shall propose additional finalists to the aforementioned faculty until a majority approve a list of three, although in special cases four, finalists to recommend to the Dean through the Department Chair. The Dean has the authority to reject a finalist and to request the committee to recommend an alternate proposed finalist. Once the Dean has approved three, or four, finalists, the Dean shall seek authorization from the Provost to invite the three finalists to campus for an interview visit.

If an appointment with tenure is contemplated, the Department Chair in the tenure-home department shall begin gathering information required for a tenure review and shall notify both the tenured faculty in the department and the college's PTAC that a tenure review will need to be conducted as soon as a finalist is selected.

7.24.1.4 Campus Interview of Finalists

The Provost's office shall provide funds to bring up to four the three finalists to campus for interviews. The Search Committee Chair is responsible for managing the finalists' campus interview visits. Each interview visit must include the following:

a) Some type of seminar, lecture, or performance to give an indication of the candidate's scholarly and teaching competence.

b) An informal gathering to permit all interested faculty to meet the candidate.

c) A meeting with prospective colleagues.

d) An opportunity to meet students, either at the seminar or at another appropriate occasion.
e) Interviews with the Department Chair(s) and Dean(s) in which the individual would have a faculty appointment, and with the Provost or his or her designated representative.

7.34.1.5. Selection and Offer of Appointment

After the campus interview visits by the candidates, the Department Chair of the tenure-home department chair again consults with the departmental position shall gather feedback from faculty and other individuals who interacted with the candidate to obtain their reactions and comments. A departmental each candidate during his or her visit and shall make such feedback available to the tenured and tenure-track departmental faculty, who shall determine by at least a majority vote which of the candidates to recommend for appointment. If none of the candidates are acceptable to the departmental faculty, they may request that the Search Committee identify a second list of candidates to interview. They also may request that the search be extended in an effort to attract more candidates.

Once the department has identified an individual that a majority of the tenured and tenure-track faculty members in the department wish to hire, the Department Chair shall convey the department's recommendation for appointment to the dean of the college. In the case of candidates who would have joint appointments with part of their salaries budgeted to another department, this process shall be conducted in both departments, with both departments conveying recommendations to the Dean or Dean(s). If the Dean(s) approves the departmental recommendation for appointment to the dean of the college. In the case of candidates who will have responsibilities in more than one department, the Dean(s) shall prepare a letter of offer and submit it to the Provost for approval. If the letter of offer is for a joint appointment, it must specify which department will be the faculty member's tenure-home. The Department Chair in the tenure-home department is responsible for handling negotiations with the candidate pertaining to the specifics of the offer, subject to constraints set by the Provost and Dean(s).

In it event that the Dean or the Provost does not approve the candidate recommended by the department(s), they shall request the department to reconsider the pool of applicants and make an alternate recommendation is made by each of the affected chairs to the appropriate dean. Letters of offer in joint appointments must clearly designate one department or program as the primary unit. After these recommendations are made, they are reviewed by the dean who writes a letter of offer for approval by the provost. In the event actions are taken at any level contrary to the departmental recommendation or to extend the search. In such cases, the administrator responsible for such the decision must give the department chair a written explanation for the decision.

7.34.2. Recruiting, Selection, and Appointment of Nontenure-Earning Track non-tenure earning Faculty:

Selection and Appointment

Each unit employing clinical—, library, lecturers, or research faculty shall develop recruiting selection, and appointment procedures for such faculty that are similar to the procedures for the appointment of faculty to tenure earning positions. All tenured and tenure-track faculty with appropriate modifications given the nature of those appointments. In academic colleges, the college's PTAC shall be responsible for developing proposals for such procedures, which shall be adopted if approved by a majority vote of the tenured faculty. All such procedures must be approved by the provost.

7.4.2.2 Full-Time Temporary and Fixed Term Faculty

Each unit employing fixed-term appointment faculty shall develop recruiting, selection, and appointment procedures for temporary non-tenure earning or term such faculty that are normally the same as similar to the procedures for the appointment of tenured and tenure-earning track faculty, except that a modified interview schedule may be but expedited by modifications appropriate for short-term to the nature of such appointments.
7.34.3 New Faculty Orientation

Prior to the beginning of the fall semester, the Office of the Provost shall conduct an orientation for new faculty that provides an opportunity to meet with university administrators and to become familiar with the work of university departments with which they will interact. New faculty should work closely with their Department Chairs to become aware of the expectations and requirements of their departments.

7.e.45. Faculty Workload

It is recognized that the workload of a tenured or tenure-track faculty member normally includes obligations in three areas of activity: teaching, research, scholarly and/or creative achievements, and service. The workload of clinical faculty is normally concentrated in the areas of clinical or professional teaching and clinical practice. The workload of Librarians is normally concentrated in consultation with department the areas of professional practice. The workload of research faculty is normally concentrated on funded projects. For fixed-term appointment faculty, the workload will be in areas of activity specified in their letter of appointment. The workload of lecturers is normally concentrated in the area of teaching, with some service commitment.

Department chairs and deans are responsible for administering faculty workloads in an equitable fashion and for weighing the impact of teaching loads on resources and productivity.

The teaching responsibility for research-active, full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty is normally shall be no more than 18 semester hours per academic year. Lower teaching loads shall be granted under a number of circumstances where the faculty member has unusually high obligations outside of teaching, including when the faculty member's responsibilities include above-average time commitments to service assignments during the academic year; to other special assignments for the department, college, or university; to the supervision of professional projects, theses, or dissertations; to unpaid service work for the university during the summer; to student advising; and to major funded or unfunded research. In addition, teaching loads should be reduced if the faculty is the President or President-elect of a national research, scientific, or educational or professional organization with more than 500 paying members, or if the faculty member is the Conference Chair for a national-regional-state research, scientific, or educational organization, or professional organization with more than 250 paying members expected to attend; such an activity should be commensurate with the time necessary for the course release.

Teaching responsibilities for other categories of faculty may be higher, with a maximum of 24 semester hours per semester, or lower depending on the needs and mission of the department and the obligations of the faculty member. Exceptions to the standard are recommended by the appropriate department chair and approved by the dean after discussion with the provost. Possible exceptions might include special assignments for the department, college, or university; supervision of professional projects, theses, or dissertations; and major time commitments to funded or unfunded research.

When the administration above the college-level asks a faculty member to take on a service or administrative activity involving a substantial time commitment, the Provost shall make arrangements with the faculty member's department and college for a commensurate reduction in the faculty member's teaching load and, if needed, should provide funds to replace the faculty member in the classroom.
Full-time tenured and tenure-track academic faculty members may obtain a redistribution from the amount of time allocated to non-research assignments (teaching and service obligations) to research if they are able to charge a fraction of their academic-year salary to either a contract, grant, or research unit. Such arrangements require long-term consultation with and approval by the respective chair, director and dean. In the interest of the quality and continuity of teaching, research assignments should normally be limited to 50% of the usual workload of a faculty member.

7.6.6 Criteria for Evaluating Tenure-Earning, Clinical and Tenured Faculty

7.6.1 General Criteria for Tenure-Earning and Tenured Faculty

Faculty members are evaluated on the basis of their effective performance or potential for effective performance in three areas of activity: (1) teaching, (2) research, and/or creative achievements, and (3) service. For clinical faculty members, performance in clinical and professional practice also will be evaluated. For Librarians, performance in professional practice also will be evaluated. These criteria form the basis for evaluating faculty members for appointment, annual appointment, performance reviews, tenure, promotion, and salary increases. Departments and colleges may have additional criteria consistent with these university-wide standards. Departmental and college criteria shall be placed on file with the Provost's office and the appropriate Dean's office.

7.6.1.1 Effectiveness in Teaching

Faculty members are expected to perform effectively in all appropriate teaching settings and situations. Students, colleagues, and administrators should recognize a faculty member’s diligence and dedication in a classroom, lecture hall, seminar, laboratory, clinic, or library, and when appropriate, effectiveness in directing the research and creative activities of undergraduate and/or graduate students. Criteria for judging effectiveness in teaching may include but are not limited to the following: thorough knowledge of subject matter; imaginative, efficient, and rigorous methods of presenting course materials and evaluating learning; effectiveness in oral and written communication; active concern for students’ advancement in the discipline, in the university, in the workplace, and in the community; ability to engender and nurture values of learning (e.g., curiosity, objectivity, enthusiasm, fairness, and critical thinking) in students; a record of producing students who, by virtue of effective teaching, achieve success throughout their university careers; and pedagogical diligence, dedication, versatility, generosity, and creativity.

The university encourages a broad spectrum of research, scholarly and creative activities of the highest possible quality, including basic, applied, clinical, and pedagogical research, as well as a range of artistic activities, across the full range of academic disciplines. The university’s commitment to these activities stems from its obligation to advance knowledge, to educate both undergraduate and graduate students, and to serve the economic and cultural needs of society. The value and weight given to specific types of scholarly and creative achievements shall be determined by standards set at the departmental and college levels. Criteria for judging effectiveness in scholarly and creative accomplishments include but are not limited to the following: (1) the ability to publish research in peer-reviewed outlets or peer and/or professional recognition of the faculty member's scholarly and/or creative work, and (2) the contribution of the faculty member's research to knowledge or the contribution of the faculty member's creative work to the needs of society.
7.56.1.3 Effectiveness in Service

Evaluation of a faculty member's effectiveness in service is based upon both internal service to the university, the profession or discipline, and external service activities. University service encompasses service to the faculty member's department and college as well as university-level activities. Internal service activities include, including but are not limited to the following: diligent service on departmental, college, or university committees; membership in the Faculty Senate and its committees; advising student clubs and organizations; and administrative assignments.

Applicable external service encompasses service to the profession and to the public for the benefit of the university. External professional service activities include but are not limited to the following: activities in learned and professional societies; unremunerated service to learned and professional societies and service as an editor or referee for scholarly publications. Community service activities include but are not limited to outreach, services or consultation provided to business, media, government, cultural, educational, political, and health-care organizations; and service as an editor or referee for scholarly publications.

Criteria for judging effectiveness in clinical and professional practice include but are not limited to the following: demonstrated knowledge and advanced skills in the selected clinical or professional specialty area; evidence of continuing professional development; and evidence of clinical or professional advancement or and achievement.

7.56.2 Tenure Criteria

Tenure is granted only to those faculty members who show evidence of substantial achievements and promise of continuing contributions in the college and areas of teaching, scholarly and/or creative achievements, and service, and who meet the criteria for promotion to associate professor. Professors, associate professors, or assistant professors with tenure-track contracts are eligible for tenure consideration. Except in unusual circumstances, tenure shall be granted only to persons with a terminal degree in an appropriate discipline. In the case of joint appointments, tenure is granted only with respect to the tenure-home department; however, if a tenured faculty member’s department is restructured or merged with another department for reasons other than financial exigency, the faculty member’s tenure shall be transferred to the newly formed department. Departments and colleges may establish additional tenure criteria consistent with these university...

Such candidates for tenure must demonstrate exceptionally meritorious achievement in scholarly and/or creative activities in addition to meeting the criteria specified in Section 7.56.2.
7.56.2.2. Tenure at Time of First Appointment

New members of the faculty may be offered tenure at the time of first employment. These faculty members must meet the above criteria for tenure and the criteria articulated in Section 7.56.3 for appointment to their appointed rank. No offer of employment awarding tenure and faculty rank shall be made without securing the explicit recommendation of the tenured faculty in the academic unit(s) in which tenure is being awarded in accordance with the College's procedures and Board Rule 301 (The Board of Trustees of the University of Alabama, Board Manual, REV 6/2009).

Non-tenure-track faculty are given either (1) a one-year appointment or (2) an appointment that may continue for a stated period of time up to three years, renewable annually for one year within that period, contingent upon the faculty member's satisfactory performance, the availability of funds, and the instructional needs of the department.

Effective library service is characterized by (1) teaching and public service that embodies the constructs set for all University faculty (organization and preparation, engagement, delivery, fairness, and accessibility); (2) engagement with departmental faculty in the development of the library's collections and services. This includes, but is not limited to, monitoring a department's use of its library allocation, informing faculty of new publications and resources in the field, development of research guides and finding aids in the field, and promoting library use among the faculty; (3) identifying and implementing innovative information technologies that improve library services; and (4) effective management of the operational unit, including effective supervision of staff, responsible use of library resources, participation in library planning, and project management.

The four ranks of faculty librarianship are, in ascending order: Librarian I, II, III, IV.
Librarian I: Appointment to this rank requires a master’s degree from a library school accredited by the American Library Association or a master’s degree relevant to the individual’s subject specialty. A library lecturer demonstrates potential to carry out instructional, scholarly, and creative duties required to perform the informational needs of the position and shows evidence of professional growth in the field.

Librarian II: Appointment or promotion to the rank of assistant librarian includes all of the requirements of library lecturer. 7.6.4.3 Specific Criteria by Rank: Lecturer Faculty Lecturer is an appointment for full-time, non-tenure-earning faculty who are appointed to serve instructional needs in academic departments. The lecturer series is primarily a "teaching ladder" and is comparable to teaching ladders at other universities.

Lecturers must have completed at least 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline and hold at least a master's degree, or hold the minimum of a master's degree with a major in the discipline in which the lecturer teaches. Any exceptions to these criteria must be justified, documented, and approved by the Provost.

A Lecturer's initial appointment is usually for one year. An appointment may, however, be for one semester or for a stated period of up to five years, renewable contingent upon satisfactory performance, the availability of funding, and the continuing instructional needs of the department. After an initial one-year appointment, reappointments are to be for two, three, and five years. Lecturers are evaluated by the normal faculty review process.

The teaching load for lecturers is normally 24 semester hours in the academic year, with additional expectations for service in student advising, participation in departmental programs concerned with student activities and instructional matters, and other responsibilities as assigned by the chair of the department. Teaching requirements may be adjusted for involvement in important projects or special activities of value to the department and the college. Lecturers may participate in departmental processes concerning curricula and learning objectives and outcomes, except for those concerning appointments, reappointments, promotion, and tenure of tenure-track faculty members. Lectures do not participate in committees or meetings associated with fiscal, and academic personnel matters including but not limited to hiring and tenure and promotion.

Lecturer: To be eligible for appointment at the rank of Lecturer, an individual must have completed at least 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline and hold at least a master's degree, or hold the minimum of a master's degree with a major in the discipline in which the lecturer teaches, terminal degrees in relevant disciplines are encouraged. Other contributions such as scholarly and/or creative activities or publications; grantsmanship; consistent and conspicuous involvement in institutional and professional service; and professional development activities are expected and required for promotion. Other duties may be assigned. After six years of service a lecturer may be promoted to Senior Lecturer. However, consideration must be given to reappointing the individual as a clinic assistant professor. The Department Chair-Dean-Provost must supply written justification as to why promotion to Senior Lecturer was chosen over reappointment to Clinical Assistant Professor.

Senior Lecturer: Promotion to the rank of Senior Lecturer is intended to recognize efforts and performance that combine instructional effectiveness with additional significant contributions to the mission of the university. These contributions may include instructional and curriculum development; dedication to student learning, retention, and success; scholarly and/or creative activities or publications; grantsmanship; consistent and conspicuous involvement in institutional and professional service; professional development activities; and continuing education. An individual promoted to the rank of Senior Lecturer must have held a regular, full-time appointment as a Lecturer at The University of Alabama in Huntsville or in a similar position at another baccalaureate degree granting institution for a minimum of six, preferably consecutive, years. The Senior Lecturer’s appointment will be for three to five years based on performance, availability of funding and the educational needs of the unit. As established long-time members of a department or college, Senior Lecturers will have a reduced teaching load that will be dedicated to service within the department, college, University, or external educational activities.

Distinguished Lecturer: Promotion to the rank of Distinguished Lecturer is intended to recognize high quality efforts and performance that combine excellent instructional effectiveness with additional significant contributions to the mission of the university. These contributions may include high level performance in instructional and curriculum development; dedication to student learning, retention, and success; scholarly and/or creative activities or publications; grantsmanship; consistent and conspicuous involvement in institutional and professional service; professional development activities; and continuing education. An individual promoted to the rank of Distinguished Lecturer must have held a regular, full-time appointment as a Senior Lecturer at The University of Alabama in Huntsville or in a similar position at another baccalaureate degree granting institution for a minimum of five, preferably consecutive, years. The Distinguished Lecturer’s appointment will be for five to seven years based on performance, availability of funding, and the educational needs of the unit. As established long-time members of a department or college, Distinguished Lecturers will have a reduced teaching load that will be dedicated to service within the department, college, University, or external educational activities.
Each college and the Library are responsible for developing college-level criteria for evaluating their faculty and candidates for faculty positions and for developing college-level procedures for evaluating college faculty for reappointment, annual performance evaluations, promotion, tenure, and post-tenure review. Such criteria shall provide greater specificity related to college expectations and processes, but must be consistent with the criteria procedures established in the Faculty Handbook.

7.67.1 Procedures for Developing College Criteria and Procedures

The College’s Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee (PTAC) shall be responsible for developing and conducting periodic reviews of college-level criteria and procedures for evaluating faculty and candidates for faculty positions in the College. PTAC shall conduct a review of such college-level criteria and procedures at least once in every five years. PTAC proposals for new or revised college-level criteria and procedures shall be presented to the tenured faculty of the College for consideration. New or revised criteria and procedures shall require a consensus of all the departments, as determined by a majority vote of the tenured faculty in each department.

Each college shall submit copies of its college-level criteria and procedures for evaluating faculty and candidates for faculty positions to the Provost. The Provost’s Office shall maintain a website posting such criteria and procedures for each college. All faculty members shall have access to the website.
7.28. Evidence and Faculty Files

Faculty personnel files are maintained in a number of locations, including the department, the Dean's office, the Office of the Provost, and the Office of Human Resources. The official faculty personnel file, including original, official transcripts, is maintained in the Dean's office.

7.28.1. A Faculty Member's Comprehensive Digital File

The Provost is responsible for establishing and maintaining for each faculty member a secure, password-protected electronic site, henceforth referred to as the Comprehensive Digital File (CDF), for depositing electronic copies of all documents used in and generated by performance reviews of that faculty member, including annual performance, reappointment, tenure, promotion, and salary reviews. The faculty member shall place items (e.g., books) that cannot be made available electronically in his or her Departmental Office. Figure 7.28.1 portrays the structure of the CDF.

The faculty member shall have full access to read all documents in the CDF except the contents of the Letters Folder and the Reports and Recommendations Folder. Letters from external peer reviewers for promotion and tenure shall be made available to the faculty member in redacted form in accordance with Section 7.101.15. Departmental (or Faculty) Committee, PTAC, URB, Department Chair’s, and Dean’s reports and recommendations for promotion and tenure shall be made available to the faculty member in redacted form in accordance with Sections 7.101.8, 7.101.11, and 7.101.15.

The faculty member’s Department Chair and Dean, and the Provost shall have full access to read all documents in the faculty member’s CDF. Members of all committees responsible for conducting performance reviews of the faculty member shall have full access to read all documents in the faculty member’s CDF for the duration of their period of service on the faculty member’s performance review committee.

The Provost shall establish procedures for adding and for modifying documents in a faculty member’s CDF. No documents may be added to a faculty member’s CDF, and no documents in the folder may be modified without notifying the faculty member.

The faculty member and the Department Chair are jointly responsible for preparing the faculty member’s documents for inclusion in the CDF prior to the first review of the faculty member’s performance and updating it prior to each subsequent performance review.

The CDF must include, but is not limited to documents and folders described in the remainder of this section and in Figure 7.42.1. The faculty member may supply any additional evidence that appears appropriate to the evaluation.

7.89 Annual Performance Evaluation and Reappointment Procedures

Each year tenured and tenure-track faculty are evaluated to provide feedback regarding the faculty member's progress toward meeting expectations for promotion and tenure, for salary adjustments, and, in cases where the faculty member's contract is due to expire at the end of the academic year, for reappointment. If the faculty member's contract is not due to expire at the end of the academic year, the review is conducted in accordance with the annual performance evaluation procedure in Section 7.8.1. If the faculty member's contract is due to expire at the end of the academic year, the review is conducted in accordance with the comprehensive review procedure in Section 7.8.2. Reappointment for tenure-track faculty, Section 7.89.3 for research faculty, Section 7.89.4 for clinical and Librarians and for lecturers, and Section 7.89.6 for adjunct faculty. Reappointment is based on the current need of the university.

The Department Chair or equivalent is responsible for conducting annual performance evaluations for all tenured, clinical, and Librarians, as well as for lecturers and for research faculty with appointments in academic departments. For research faculty members who do not have appointment in academic departments, the Dean shall be responsible for conducting a similar annual performance review procedure. The Department Chair or equivalent also is responsible for conducting an annual performance evaluation for each tenure-track faculty member in the department in years in which the faculty member does not undergo a reappointment review in accordance with Section 7.89.2.
Annual performance evaluations will evaluate the faculty member’s performance in each of the areas of activity (i.e., scholarly and creative achievements, teaching, service, professional and clinical practice) for which the faculty member has responsibilities, based on the faculty member’s record for the entire probationary period for tenure-track faculty and for the past five years for other faculty.

7.89 1.1 Purpose

Annual performance evaluations are developmental in nature and are designed to provide feedback to faculty members that will help them to improve performance and/or maintain effective performance. Annual performance evaluations are also used as a foundation for making decisions pertaining to salary increases. For tenure-track faculty members, annual performance evaluations provide feedback regarding the faculty member’s progress toward meeting expectations for reappointment and tenure in years that the faculty member is not under review for reappointment or tenure. Annual performance evaluations also provide feedback regarding the faculty member’s progress toward meeting expectations for promotion in rank.

(b) The Chair shall prepare a written Annual Performance Evaluation, which shall include: (1) a written statement evaluating the faculty member’s performance in the three areas of teaching, research, scholarly and/or creative accomplishments, and service; the chair’s, and for library and clinical faculty, clinical and professional practice; and (2) the Annual Performance Evaluation Rating Form, below.
For tenure-track faculty members, the Chair's written evaluation shall also incorporate any comments and suggestions of other tenured faculty members in the department.

In rating the performance of a department's faculty, the Chair shall not use any forced distribution which limits the number or share of faculty members receiving a given rating, because such forced distributions make artificial distinctions when the variance in actual performance is low. In rating a faculty member's overall performance, the Chair shall weight teaching, scholarly and/or creative achievements, and service performance consistent with the faculty member's responsibilities in each of those areas of activity.

(c) The Chair shall give the written evaluation and the rating form to the faculty member prior to the annual performance review discussion.

The Chair's Annual Performance Evaluation of a faculty member and any written responses that may be made by the individual become part of the faculty member's comprehensive file.

If a chair's evaluation reveals significant concerns about the performance of a tenured faculty member, the chair's statement may include a recommendation that the dean convene a review committee of tenured faculty in the department to consider possible action. Following three consecutive years of performance concerns, the chair's recommendation must include a recommendation for a special review by tenured faculty in the department.

For the purpose of this section, administrators who do not have tenure may not participate in the tenure and promotion review processes. College and departmental procedures may not conflict with the procedures specified in this section.
7.910.1. Initiation of Promotion and Tenure Reviews

By April 15 of each academic year the Provost shall provide deans and department chairs with a list of faculty under mandatory tenure consideration during the coming academic year and remind them shall notify all faculty of the May 15 deadline for promotion nominations.

7.910.1.1. Tenure review during the last year of candidate’s probationary period

By May 15 prior to year of review of the academic year before the tenure review, the Department Chair or equivalent shall notify the candidate that the tenure evaluation process is to begin. This tenure review process occurs no later than the last year in the candidate’s probationary period as defined in Section 7.931.1.1 or by an extension of the probationary period in accordance with Section 7.930.1.2.

7.910.1.2. Early tenure review

A tenure-track faculty member may be considered for early tenure as defined in Section 7.562.1 in a year that the faculty member’s letter-of-offer specifies that an early tenure review may take place or, in cases where the Department Chair or equivalent believes the candidate meets the criteria for early tenure specified in Section 7.562.1, in a year that is agreed upon by the candidate and the candidate’s Department Chair or equivalent. The immediate supervisor informs tenure candidate. The Department Chair and the candidate for early tenure shall decide by May 15 of the academic year before the early tenure review year that the tenure evaluation process is to begin. A candidate for early tenure may withdraw from consideration at any point in the review process without prejudice to future tenure review.

7.910.1.3. Tenure review of administrative officers

Board Rule 301 (The Board of Trustees of the University of Alabama, Board Manual, REV 6/2009) states that an individual holding an administrative appointment may be considered for tenure and requires that administrative officers being considered for tenure be subject to the usual review process set forth in the Faculty Handbook. Tenure review procedures for administrative officers shall apply to administrative appointments at the level of department chair and above.

In cases where the administrative officer has a tenure-track faculty appointment, the Department Chair or equivalent shall initiate the tenure review process by May 15 in accordance with Section 7.101.1.1 or with Section 7.101.1.2, whichever is applicable.

In cases where the candidate is seeking tenure at the time of first appointment, the Department Chair (or equivalent) of the department (or college) in which the candidate is seeking a tenured faculty appointment shall initiate the tenure review process. In such cases, the Chair and the search committee are responsible for providing faculty review committees with information that would normally be contained in a tenure candidate’s comprehensive file. If the candidate’s administrative appointment is outside of the department or college in which the candidate is seeking tenure, the Provost shall request that the Department Chair or equivalent initiate the tenure review process. In such cases, the Provost and the search committee are responsible for providing the Department Chair and faculty review committees with information that would normally be contained in a tenure candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File.
To ensure that a thorough review process takes place, if the review process is initiated during the academic year, at least three full weeks (excluding holidays, Fall Break, semester break, and Spring Break) shall be allowed for the review. If the review process is initiated outside of the academic year, at least four full weeks shall be allowed for the review and the Department Chair or equivalent and Dean shall be responsible for developing procedures that ensure that faculty members who are eligible to participate in the tenure evaluation process but are out of town can participate in the review process. In all cases, the candidate shall meet all criteria for tenure articulated in Section 7.5.2 as well as additional tenure criteria established by the department and college.

7.8.10.1.4 Promotion in Academic Rank

A tenured or tenure-track faculty member may apply for promotion in rank by providing written notification to the candidate’s department chair or equivalent, or, in a case in which the candidate is a department chair, to the Dean, by May 15 of the year before the promotion review. A candidate may withdraw from consideration for promotion without prejudice at any time by written request to the Department Chair or equivalent.

7.8.10.2 Review Levels, Reports, Recommendations, and Decisions

Reviews for promotion and/or tenure take place at six levels in the following sequence: the Departmental Committee, the Department Chair or equivalent, the College Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee (PTAC), the Dean, the University Review Board (URB), and the Provost. In the College of Nursing, reviews take place at five levels, the Faculty Committee, the Associate Dean, the Dean, URB, and the Provost. Reviews at each level below the Provost are advisory to the Provost, who makes the final decision.

7.8.10.2.1 Departmental Committee, PTAC, and URB Reports and the Provost’s Decision

At each level of review below the Provost, the reviewing body shall conduct a separate review and prepare a written report. Each report must include a written recommendation in accordance with Section 7.101.2.2 and a written rationale including the positive and negative factors that influenced the recommendation made by reviewer(s). The committee report (i.e., the Departmental Committee or Faculty Committee in the College of Nursing, PTAC, URB) shall include a signature page that shall be signed by all committee members and reveal the number of votes for each recommendation (i.e., Section 7.101.2.2). If the votes are not unanimous, the report shall include both majority and minority subsections summarizing the rationales of the majority and minority, respectively.

7.8.10.2.2 Recommendations and Decision

7.8.10.2.2.1 Tenure & Promotion to Associate Professor in Last Year of Probationary Period

Each report must make one of the following recommendations and the Provost must make one of the following decisions:

(a) That tenure and promotion be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year;

(b) That tenure and promotion not be granted.
7.10.2.2.2 Tenure & Promotion to Professor in Last Year of Probationary Period

Each report must make one of the following recommendations and the Provost must make one of the following decisions:

(a) That tenure and promotion be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year;

(b) That tenure be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year, but that the decision on promotion be deferred;

(c) That tenure and promotion not be granted.

7.10.2.2.3 Early Tenure for Assistant Professors

Each report must make one of the following recommendations and the Provost must make one of the following decisions:

(a) That tenure and promotion be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year;

(b) That the decision on granting tenure and promotion be deferred;

(c) That promotion be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year and that the decision on granting tenure be deferred.

7.10.2.2.4 Early Tenure for Associate Professors or Professors

Each report must make one of the following recommendations and the Provost must make one of the following decisions:

(a) That tenure be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year;

(b) That the decision on granting tenure be deferred.

7.10.2.2.5 Tenure at Time of First Appointment

Each report must make one of the following recommendations and the Provost must make one of the following decisions:

(a) That tenure be granted effective on the first day of employment;

(b) That the decision on granting tenure be deferred.
7.910.2.6 Promotion for Candidates Not Being Considered for Tenure

Each report must make one of the following recommendations and the Provost must make one of the following decisions:

(a) That promotion be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year.
(b) That the decision on granting the promotion be deferred.

7.910.3 External Peer Review

Because external peer review has played a long-standing role in evaluating scholarly and creative achievements, a minimum of three letters from peer evaluators outside the university are required for all promotion and tenure reviews.

7.910.3.1 Qualifications for External Peer Reviewers

Ideally peer reviewers should be both expert and objective. Reviewers should have outstanding professional qualifications. Any significant relationship (supervisory, collaborative, or social) between the peer reviewer and the candidate should be disclosed both in the nomination of the peer reviewer and in the letter from the peer reviewer. Dissertation advisors may not serve as external reviewers. Whenever feasible, the set of peer reviewers should include members with no significant relationship with the candidate.
7.910.3.2 Procedure for Selecting External Peer Reviewers

By May 20 in the academic year preceding the promotion and/or tenure review, the Department Chair shall solicit nominations of individuals to serve as external peer reviewers from the candidate and members of the candidate’s department who are eligible to serve on promotion and tenure committees. The names of nominees to serve as external peer reviewers, along with supporting documentation of the nominee’s qualifications, must be submitted in writing to the Department Chair by June 15. The Department Chair shall select four external peer reviewers from the nominees; two of the four external peer reviewers must be taken from the list nominated by the candidate.

7.910.3.3 Procedure for Soliciting External Peer Reviews

By June 15, the candidate shall provide the Department Chair with a packet of information to send to the external peer reviewers. The packet shall include a curriculum vitae and representative examples of the candidate’s scholarly and/or creative achievements.

By July 1, the Department Chair shall contact the external peer reviewers by telephone or email to ascertain their willingness to serve as a reviewer and to submit their review by August 15. If any of those selected decline to serve, the Department Chair shall select a replacement from the remaining nominees.

By July 1, the Department Chair shall send the packet of information to the external peer reviewers along with a letter requesting that they assess the quality of the candidate’s scholarly and/or creative achievements.

If fewer than three of the external peer reviewers have returned their reviews by August 15, the Department Chair shall solicit additional reviews from the nominees. By September 15, the Department Chair shall place in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File: (1) a summary of each external reviewer’s qualifications, (2) a copy of the letter sent to the external reviewers requesting their assessment of the quality of the candidate’s scholarly and/or creative achievements, and (3) the letters received from the external reviewers. The original letters submitted by external peer reviewers shall be placed in the faculty member’s personnel file in the Dean’s office.

7.910.4 Other Supporting Documentation

7.910.4.1 Other Letters of Support

The candidate may also solicit up to five secondary letters of support from parties who can provide additional information about the candidate’s scholarly and/or creative achievements (e.g., co-authors and other collaborators, former students). By September 15, the Chair shall place such letters in the faculty member’s Comprehensive Digital File and shall submit the original letters of support to the Dean; the Dean shall place the originals in the faculty member’s personnel file in the Dean’s office.

UAH Faculty Handbook (2013)
7.10.4.2 Addition of Information to the Comprehensive Digital File

No documents may be added to the Comprehensive Digital File after the review by the Departmental Committee (or equivalent), other than updates to the status of existing publications, creative works, grant proposals, etc. If the candidate has relevant information to add prior to the completion of the review by the Departmental Committee, the candidate shall provide such information to the Department Chair, who shall place such information in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File and notify the Departmental Committee of its addition. If the Departmental Committee decides that additional information is needed, the Committee Chair shall request such information from the Department Chair, who shall obtain the missing information, place it in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File, and notify the candidate that the additional information has been placed in the file.

If the candidate has relevant information to add after the completion of the review by the Departmental Committee, the candidate may provide such information to the Department Chair (or equivalent) and the Dean, who may include it in their reports. If the Department Chair or Dean includes such information in their reports, they shall note in the report when they received it.

7.10.5 Eligibility to Serve on and Selection of Promotion and/or Tenure Committees

7.10.5.1 Eligibility to Serve on Promotion and/or Tenure Committees

Three faculty committees, the Departmental Committee (or Faculty Committee in Nursing), the College Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee (PTAC), and the University Review Board (URB), participate in promotion and tenure review processes. University Administrators may not serve on these faculty promotion or tenure committees except in situations where a small department requires their participation, as specified in Section 7.101.5.2. All other full-time tenured faculty members are eligible to serve. A faculty member who meets these eligibility criteria and who also is an administrator but not participating directly in the review process at a higher level is eligible to serve on the Departmental Committee. Such administrators must abstain from advising any higher level administrator making decisions in the review process.

University Review Board members must hold the rank of professor or associate professor, be tenured, and have at least five years of full-time academic experience on university faculties. Faculty members who are candidates for promotion and faculty members who hold an administrative position at the level of department chair or higher are not eligible to serve on the URB. No member of the URB may serve on a PTAC.

7.10.5.2 Composition and Selection of the Departmental Committee (or Faculty Committee in Nursing)

For the College of Nursing, the Faculty Committee will be the equivalent of the Departmental Committee and the Associate Dean will be the equivalent of the Department Chair.

By September 15 and after consultation with the candidate, the Dean, and with the faculty members eligible to serve as departmental committee members, the candidate’s Department Chair (or equivalent) shall form the departmental promotion and/or tenure committee for the candidate. If the candidate is the Department Chair, the candidate’s dean shall form the committee.
The departmental promotion and/or tenure committee (or equivalent) shall consist of all faculty members in the candidate's department (or equivalent unit) who meet the eligibility requirements specified in Section 7.1.5.1 and one eligible faculty member from another department. The latter member shall be selected by department chair in consultation with the candidate. The Department Chair does not serve on the departmental committee unless there are fewer than three eligible faculty members within the candidate's department, other than the Chair. In such cases, the Department Chair serves as a voting member of the committee and does not conduct a separate review.

For faculty holding joint appointments, the Department Chair (or equivalent) of the primary department shall form the departmental committee, which shall consist of all tenured faculty members in the primary department and at least one tenured faculty member from the other department(s). The Chair of the primary department shall select the latter person. In cases of joint appointments, the procedures for the primary department shall be followed.

7.9.10.5.3. Composition and Selection of the URB

The University Review Board (URB) is composed of five faculty members, one from each of the colleges. The term of office for URB members is two years and is staggered among the members.

The Dean of each college is responsible for supervising the election of the college's representative to URB. The Dean shall convene a nominating committee composed of the Dean and all department chairs in the college. By September 5, the nominating committee shall prepare a slate of at least two nominees who meet the eligibility requirements specified in Section 7.1.5.1. The Dean shall conduct the election and shall notify the faculty of the college and the Provost of the results by September 20. Tenured and tenure-track members are eligible to vote by secret ballot in URB elections. In addition, research and clinical faculty members who have full-time appointments in the College and who are not on termination notice also are eligible to vote by secret ballot in URB elections. By November 1, the Provost shall provide URB members with access to the Comprehensive Digital Files of all faculty members in the University who are under review for promotion and/or tenure.

7.9.10.5.4. Composition and Selection of the PTAC

The Dean of each college is responsible for supervising the election of the college's Promotion and Tenure Committee. The Dean shall convene a nominating committee comprised of the Dean and all department chairs in the college. Prior to October 1, the nominating committee shall prepare a slate of at least ten nominees for PTAC who meet the eligibility requirements specified in Section 7.1.5.1 and the Dean shall announce the slate to the faculty who are eligible to vote on PTAC membership. Whenever possible, the nominating committee shall encourage diversity in slate of nominees.
By October 15, the Dean shall conduct a secret ballot election to select the PTAC membership and shall report the results of the election to the College’s faculty and to the Provost. The ballot shall contain the slate of ten nominees chosen by the nominating committee. All tenured and tenure-track faculty members of the college who are not on termination notice have the right to vote in the election. Each voter may vote for five of the nominees.

The five nominees with the most votes shall serve a one year term as regular members of PTAC. The nominees with the 6th and 7th highest number of votes shall serve a one year term as alternate members of PTAC. A PTAC member who has served on a candidate’s promotion and/or tenure committee is ineligible to participate in the PTAC review of that candidate and may not participate in the PTAC’s discussion or vote on that candidate. In such cases, alternate PTAC members replace the regular PTAC committee members who are ineligible to serve on the candidate’s PTAC. Alternate PTAC members also shall replace a PTAC member who is unavailable to serve.

By November 1, the Provost shall provide PTAC members and alternate members with access to the Comprehensive Digital Files of all faculty members in the College who are under review for promotion and or tenure.

In cases where there are not enough eligible faculty to serve on the PTAC for a candidate, the Dean shall consult with the Provost, who shall determine a suitable arrangement for a college-level review for that candidate.

7.910.6. Review by the Departmental Committee (or Equivalent)

The Provost shall make the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File available to the Departmental Committee by September 15. The Department Chair shall call the first meeting of the Departmental Committee by September 15 and shall charge the committee, and then leave to ensure that the Departmental Committee’s review and the Department Chair’s review are independent.

By October 15, the Departmental Committee shall meet, discuss and evaluate the candidate’s performance, and submit its report to the Department Chair.

The Departmental Committee shall select a committee chair from among its members. The committee shall review information provided in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File. No new information will be added to the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File except in accordance with Section 7.101.4.2. After the committee has deliberated, it shall choose one or more members of the committee to draft the committee’s report in accordance with Section 7.101.2. When all members of the committee have reached consensus on the language of the report, the Departmental Committee Chair shall obtain the signature of all committee members on the committee report and shall submit the report to the Department Chair. By October 20, the Department Chair shall add a copy of the departmental committee’s report to the candidate’s Digital Comprehensive File and shall place the original report in the faculty member’s personnel file in the Dean’s office.
In cases in which there are fewer than three eligible faculty members within the candidate’s department and the Department Chair shall serve as a voting member of the Departmental Committee, the Departmental Committee Chair shall submit the committee report to the Dean by October 15. The Dean shall add the Departmental Committee’s report and a statement indicating why the Department Chair is on the Departmental Committee to the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File. In such cases, there shall be no review by the Department Chair and the next step in the review process shall be review by PTAC.

7.910.7. Review by the Department Chair (or Equivalent).

The Department Chair (or equivalent), providing he or she is not a voting member of the Departmental Committee, shall review the report of the Departmental Committee (or equivalent) and the other materials in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File. The Department Chair then shall write an independent report prepared in accordance with Section 7.101.2. By November 1, the Chair (or equivalent) shall forward the Chair’s report to the Dean. By November 5, the Dean shall place the original report in the candidate’s personnel file in the Dean’s office and shall add a copy of the Department Chair’s (or equivalent’s) report to the candidate’s Digital Comprehensive File.

7.910.8. Notification of Candidate of Results of Departmental Reviews

The Chair (or equivalent) shall meet with the candidate by November 15 and shall provide the candidate with: (1) a copy of the Departmental Committee’s report and (2) the Chair’s (or equivalent’s) report; the copies of both reports that are provided to the candidate must have all information identifying individual committee members and outside reviewers removed.

7.910.9. Review by the College Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee (PTAC)

By October 25, the Dean shall call the first meeting of the PTAC.

PTAC shall select a chair from among its members. PTAC shall form a committee of five PTAC members for reviewing each promotion and/or tenure candidate. PTAC members who voted on a candidate at the department level shall not serve on or be present during discussions by that candidate’s PTAC committee; alternate members of PTAC shall replace such PTAC members.

The PTAC committee for a candidate shall select a chair and shall review information provided in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File. PTAC shall assess each candidate’s performance using relevant criteria in Section 7.56 and additional tenure and/or promotion criteria developed by the college. After the committee has deliberated, it shall choose one or more members of the committee to draft the committee’s report in accordance with Section 7.101.2. Once all members of the committee have reached consensus on the language of the report, the Chair shall submit the report to the Dean by December 5. By December 15, the Dean shall place a copy of the PTAC report in the candidate’s Digital Comprehensive File and shall place the original in the candidate’s personnel file in the Dean’s office.
7.910.10. Review by the Dean

The Dean shall conduct an independent review of the candidate, and shall prepare a report in accordance with Section 7.101.2. By January 15, the Dean shall forward the original report, to the Provost. By January 20, the Provost shall place a copy of the report in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital Filer.

7.910.11. Notification to Candidate of Results of College-Level Reviews

The Dean (or equivalent) shall meet with the candidate by January 20 and shall provide the candidate with copies of the PTAC’s report and the Dean’s (or equivalent’s) report; the copies of both reports that are provided to the candidate must have all information identifying individual committee members and outside reviewers removed.

7.910.12. Review by the University Review Board

7.910.12.1. Review of Promotion and Tenure Candidates

By December 5, the Provost shall call the first meeting of the University Review Board. The URB shall select a chair from among its members. The University Review Board is responsible for reviewing the Comprehensive Digital Files for all promotion and tenure candidates submitted to the Office of the Provost by the deans. URB shall base its report to the Provost solely upon the recommendations and evidence submitted in the Comprehensive Digital Files. By February 15, URB shall prepare a report and recommendation for each tenure and/or promotion candidate in accordance with Section 7.101.2. In addition, URB is responsible for: (1) ascertaining that there is adequate documentation in each candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File to allow determination that the candidate has satisfied the requirements in each of the categories of teaching, scholarly and/or creative achievements, and service; (2) determining that the review process for each candidate at the department and college levels has been carried out in accordance with posted departmental and college procedures and with the procedures prescribed by the Faculty Handbook; and (3) ensuring that the application of criteria for promotion and tenure is consistent throughout the university and consistent with the criteria delineated earlier in Section 7.5.

URB members who voted on a candidate at the department level shall neither be present during the discussion nor vote on that candidate.

7.910.12.2. Review of Criteria and Procedures

By April 1, URB shall review criteria and procedures used by the colleges for consistency with the Faculty Handbook and, if any college’s criteria and procedures are judged to be inconsistent with the Faculty Handbook, shall notify the Provost and the Dean of the College of the inconsistencies.

7.910.13. Review by the Provost

The Provost shall conduct an independent review of each promotion and/or tenure candidate prior to making a final decision in accordance with Section 7.101.2. In conducting the review of each candidate, the Provost shall evaluate all information submitted in the candidate’s comprehensive file, including all previous report, and may utilize professional assessments from appropriate faculty and academic administrators.
7.10.14 Notification to the Candidate

By March 15, the Provost shall notify all candidates informing them of the final decision on promotion and/or tenure in their individual cases. Subsequent to notifying all candidates, the Provost shall also provide a written general announcement to the faculty listing all individuals who will be awarded tenure or promoted effective at the beginning of the next academic year. A faculty member who receives notification of denial or deferral of tenure or promotion must be informed in writing by the Provost of the reason(s) for that decision.

7.10.15 Promotion and Tenure Appeals

Any candidate who is not granted promotion or tenure has the right to appeal that decision. The faculty member may file a grievance to the Faculty Appeals Committee in accordance with the faculty grievance procedure in Appendix E. The Provost shall provide unsuccessful candidates with copies of the URB report from which all information identifying individual committee members and outside reviewers has been removed, and with redacted copies of letters written by external peer reviewers. If the faculty member chooses to appeal the decision, the official appeal must be initiated within 45 days after the date of the Provost's letter providing the reasons for denial.

7.101 Promotion Procedures for Research, Clinical, Librarians and Lecturers

For the purpose of this section, administrators who do not have tenure may not participate in the promotion review process. For the purpose of this section, the “Associate Dean” in the College of Nursing is the equivalent of the “Department Chair.”

7.101.1 Initiation of the Promotion Review

Research or clinical faculty members who are affiliated with an academic department and Librarians and Lecturers members may apply for promotion in rank by providing written notification to the candidate’s Department Chair or equivalent by May 15 of the year before the promotion review. Research or clinical faculty members who are not affiliated with an academic department, but are affiliated with a college, may apply for promotion in rank by providing written notification to the candidate’s dean by May 15 of the year before the promotion review. Research or clinical faculty members who are not affiliated with either an academic department or a college, may apply for promotion in rank by providing written notification to the Provost by May 15 of the year before the promotion review.

A candidate may withdraw from consideration for promotion without prejudice at any time by written request to the Department Chair or equivalent.

7.101.2 Review Levels

Reviews for promotion normally take place at six levels in the following sequence: the Departmental Committee, the Department Chair or equivalent, the College Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee (PTAC), the Dean, the University Review Board (URB), and the Provost. In the College of Nursing, reviews take place at five levels, the Faculty Committee, the Associate Dean, the Dean, URB, and the Provost. For candidates outside of the College of Nursing who are affiliated with a college, but are not affiliated with an academic department, reviews take place at four levels: the College Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee (PTAC), the Dean, the University Review Board (URB), and the Provost. For candidates outside of the College of Nursing who affiliated with neither a college nor an academic department, the reviews take place at three... levels: a Faculty Committee appointed by the Provost, the University Review Board (URB), and the Provost.
The Librarians shall develop a proposal for a similar procedure for promotion reviews and submit their proposal to the Faculty Senate Executive Committee and the Provost for approval. Upon approval, the procedure for promotion reviews of Librarians shall be incorporated into the Faculty Handbook.

Reviews at each level below the Provost are advisory to the Provost, who makes the final decision.

7.101.3. Recommendations and Reports

7.101.3.1. Recommendations

At each level of review, the administrator or Committee must make one of the following recommendations or, in the case of the Provost, decisions:

(a) That promotion be granted effective at the beginning of the following academic year.

(b) That the decision on granting the promotion be deferred.

If a Committee does not reach consensus on a recommendation, the recommendation shall consist of the number of votes cast for each option.

7.101.3.2. Reports

At each level of review below the Provost, the reviewing person or body shall prepare a recommendation in accordance with Section 7.142.3.1 and a written report. Committee reports (i.e., the Departmental Committee or Faculty Committee, PTAC, URB) shall include a signature page that shall be signed by all committee members and reveal the number of votes cast for each option. If the vote is not unanimous, the report shall include both majority and minority subsections summarizing the rationales of the majority and minority, respectively.

7.101.4. External Peer Review

A minimum of three letters from peer evaluators outside the university are required for promotion reviews.

7.101.4.1. Qualifications for External Peer Reviewers

Ideally peer reviewers should be both expert and objective. Reviewers should have outstanding professional qualifications. Any significant relationship (supervisory, collaborative, or social) between the peer reviewer and the candidate should be disclosed both in the nomination of the peer reviewer and in the letter from the peer reviewer. Dissertation advisors may not serve as external reviewers. Whenever feasible, the set of peer reviewers should include members with no significant relationship with the candidate. Colleges and departments may choose external peer reviewers who are qualified to assess the specific responsibilities of a clinical, library, or research faculty members in that department and/or college.
7.1.4.2 Procedure for Selecting External Peer Reviewers

Each college or department and the library are responsible for developing procedures for selecting external peer reviewers for clinical, library, and research faculty members in accordance with procedures set forth in Section 7.67.1. By May 20 in the year preceding the promotion review, the Administrator (Department Chair, Dean, or Provost) to whom the candidate applied for promotion review shall solicit nominations for promotion are submitted to chairs and deans.

7.1.4.3 Procedure for Soliciting External Peer Reviews

By June 15, the candidate shall provide the Administrator (Department Chair, Dean, or Provost) to whom the candidate applied for promotion review with a packet of information to send to the external peer reviewers. For research faculty members, the packet shall include a curriculum vitae and representative samples of the candidate's scholarly and/or creative achievements. For clinical, Librarians and lecturers, the packet shall include the candidate's curriculum vitae and evidence of accomplishments in the areas of activity (i.e., teaching, scholarly and/or creative achievements, service, and clinical and professional practice) for which the candidate has responsibilities in accordance with criteria established by the department and/or college in which the appointment is held.

By July 1, that administrator shall contact the external peer reviewers by telephone or email to ascertain their willingness to serve as a reviewer and to submit their review by August 15; if any of those selected decline to serve, the administrator shall select a replacement from the remaining nominees.

By July 1, that administrator shall send the packet of information to the external peer reviewers along with a letter requesting that they assess the quality of the candidate's scholarly and/or creative achievements.

In the event that fewer than three of the external peer reviewers have returned their reviews by August 15, the administrator shall solicit additional reviews from the nominees identified in accordance with Section 7.142.4.2. The administrator shall place a copy of the letter sent to the external reviewers requesting their assessment of the candidate’s performance and the letters received from the external reviewers in the candidate's Comprehensive Digital File.

7.1.4.4 Other Letters of Support

The candidate may also solicit up to five secondary letters of support from parties who can provide additional information about the areas of activity (i.e., teaching, scholarly and/or creative achievements, service, and clinical and professional practice) for which the candidate has responsibilities in accordance with criteria established by the department and/or college in which the appointment is held. By September 15, the Administrator shall place such letters in the faculty member's Comprehensive Digital File and shall submit the original letters of support to the Dean; the Dean shall place the originals in the faculty member's personnel file in the Dean’s office or, in cases where the candidate does not have a college affiliation, in the Provost's office.
7.101.4.5 Addition of Information to the Comprehensive Digital File

No documents may be added to the Comprehensive Digital File after the review by the Departmental Committee (or equivalent). If the candidate has relevant information to add prior to the completion of the review by the Departmental Committee (or equivalent), the candidate shall provide such information to the Department Chair (or equivalent), who shall place such information in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File and notify the Departmental Committee of its addition. If the Departmental Committee (or equivalent) decides that additional information is needed, the Committee Chair shall request such information from the Department Chair (or equivalent), who shall obtain the missing information, place it in the candidate’s Comprehensive Digital File, and notify the candidate that the additional information has been placed in the file.

If the candidate has relevant information to add to the CDF after the Departmental Committee (or equivalent) had completed its review, the candidate may provide such information to the Department Chair (or equivalent) and the Dean, who may include it in their reports. If the Department Chair (or equivalent) or Dean includes such information in their reports, they shall note when they received it.

7.101.5 Eligibility to Serve on and Selection of Promotion Committees

7.101.5.1 Eligibility to Serve on Promotion Committees

Three faculty committees, the Departmental Committee (or Faculty Committee in the College of Nursing or for candidates who are not affiliated with a college), the College Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee (PTAC), and the University Review Board (URB), participate in promotion reviews processes. Administrators who participate directly in the review process at a higher level may not serve on promotion committees. All other full-time tenured faculty members are eligible to serve on promotion committees. A faculty member who meets these eligibility criteria and who also is an administrator but not participating directly in the review process at a higher level is eligible to serve on the Departmental Committee. Such administrators must abstain from advising any higher level administrator making decisions in the review process. The College of Nursing and the Library shall establish additional eligibility criteria for participation on the Faculty Committee evaluating clinical and Librarians members, respectively, for promotion. URB is responsible for developing additional eligibility criteria for serving on Faculty Committees responsible for evaluating promotion candidates who have neither a departmental nor a college affiliation.

Eligibility requirements to serve on PTAC and on URB are specified in Section 7.101.5.1.
7.101.5.2 Composition and Selection of the Departmental Committee (or Faculty Committee in Nursing)

By September 15, and after consultation with the candidate, the Dean, and with the faculty members eligible to serve as departmental (or equivalent) committee members, the candidate’s Department Chair (or equivalent) shall form the departmental (or equivalent) promotion committee for the candidate.

The Departmental Committee shall be composed and selected in accordance with Sections.

In the College of Nursing, the Faculty Committee shall consist of all faculty members in the college the eligibility requirements specified in College of Nursing Organizational Bylaws. The latter member shall be selected by associate dean in consultation with the candidate. The associate dean does not serve on the faculty committee.

For faculty members who do not have either a departmental or a college affiliation, the Faculty Committee shall consist of five faculty members, who shall be appointed by the Provost. At least four of the faculty members on the committee shall be tenured faculty members; one untenured clinical or research faculty member at rank of associate or full professor may be appointed. Where feasible, appointees to such faculty committees will be in the same discipline or a closely associated discipline as the candidate for promotion.

7.101.6 Review by the Departmental or Faculty Committee

The review by the Departmental or Faculty Committee shall follow the procedure specified in Section 7.101.6.

7.101.7 Review by the Department Chair (or Equivalent)

The review by the Department Chair (or equivalent) shall follow the procedure specified in Section 7.101.7.

7.101.8 Notification of Candidate of Results of Departmental Reviews

The Chair (or equivalent) shall meet with the candidate by November 15 and shall provide the candidate with: (1) a copy of the Departmental (or Faculty) Committee’s report and (2) the Chair’s (or equivalent’s) report; the copies of both reports that are provided to the candidate must have all information identifying individual committee members and outside reviewers removed.

7.101.9 Review by the College Promotion and Tenure Advisory Committee

The review by the PTAC shall follow the procedure specified in Section 7.101.9.

7.101.10 Review by the Dean

The review by the Dean shall follow the procedure specified in Section 7.101.10.
7.101.11 Notification to Candidate of Results of College-Level Reviews

The Dean (or equivalent) shall meet with the candidate by January 20 and shall provide the candidate with copies of the PTAC’s report and the Dean’s (or equivalent’s) report; the copies of both reports that are provided to the candidate must have all information identifying individual committee members and outside reviewers removed.

7.101.12 University Review Board

The review by the University Review Board forwards all comprehensive files and recommendations to the provost.

7.101.13 Review by the Provost

The review by the Provost shall follow the procedure specified in Section 7.101.13.

7.101.14 Notification to the Candidate

The Provost shall notify the candidate in accordance with Section 7.101.14.

7.101.15 Promotion Appeals

Any candidate who is not granted promotion has the right to appeal that decision in accordance with Section 7.101.15.

Faculty members are expected to leave their position before terminating their appointment. Notifications of resignation should be submitted in writing to the Dean(s) of the college(s) in which the individual holds a faculty appointment, with a copy to the faculty member’s Department Chair or equivalent. Such notice should, in general, be submitted early enough to obviate hardship to the institution and to provide for continuity of instruction. UAH encourages faculty members who are resigning to comply with the AAUP “Statement on Recruitment and Resignation of Faculty Members,” which states, in part, that absent an emergency situation, faculty members should resign no “…later than May 15 or thirty days after receiving notification of the terms of continued employment for the following year, whichever date is later who resign are encouraged to submit their written notice of resignation by May 15” (AAUP Policy and Documents Report, 2006, p. 178).

7.123.2. Retirement

University personnel

Faculty members who qualify for retirement benefits under the State Teachers Retirement System of Alabama (TRSA) should contact the UAH Human Resources Office at least ninety (90) days before their anticipated retirement date. Timely notification allows for information required by TRSA to be compiled and for benefit options to be evaluated and selected by the faculty member. TRSA requires that the Application for Retirement be submitted between 60 and 90 days before retirement.

between 60 and 90 days before retirement.
Faculty members on an academic year appointment, including tenured faculty members, may retire June 1 of any year (or at the end of the spring semester if they are not working in the summer) even though they will be paid through the academic year. It is to the advantage of faculty members who are on a calendar year appointment to retire on April 1, because the TRSA considers 9 months as a full year’s work in the year of retirement. Therefore, for faculty members who are on a calendar year appointment, the TRSA year of July 1 through March 31 of the next year constitutes 9 months’ work.
Detailed information about retirement eligibility and procedures can be found at the UAH Department of Human Resources and at the TRSA websites, (http://www.uah.edu/admin/HR/benefits/retireeinfo.php, www.rsa-al.gov).

7.134. Disciplinary Policies and Procedures

7.134.1. General Policy

The University, acting pursuant to constitutional and statutory authority, has the right to impose disciplinary sanctions upon a faculty member. Such sanctions may only be imposed, however, for adequate cause and in accordance with established procedures, all as set forth more fully in these sections. Sanctions will not be used to restrain faculty members in their exercise of academic freedom or other rights of American citizens.

The dismissal of a faculty member or imposition of a major sanction on a faculty member is not purely an administrative decision. Rather, as set forth in the procedures below, it is an action that results from due deliberation of colleagues in the academic community.

In the formal proceedings provided below in which dismissal or other major sanction is sought, the burden of establishing adequate cause for applying such sanction will be on the academic administrator.

University personnel involved in a disciplinary proceeding are to maintain the confidentiality of information regarding the conduct of the faculty member who is the subject of the proceeding and related matters, disclosing such information to others only on a need-to-know basis.

7.134.2. Dismissal

Adequate cause for dismissal of a tenured faculty member or for dismissal of a faculty member during the term of an appointment must relate, directly and substantially, to the fitness of the faculty member to function in the role of teacher, researcher, and colleague in an academic community. Adequate cause for dismissal might include serious professional or personal misconduct; serious failure, without adequate justification and whether due to incompetence or refusal, to perform academic duties in accordance with generally accepted norms; conviction of a serious crime; serious violations of other law or of University policy; etc.

If the basis for seeking dismissal or suspension involves conduct by the faculty member that is known to the department chair or dean and that has occurred over a period of time, there should normally be a record of progressive discipline evidencing an attempt to allow correction of such conduct prior to the initiation of proceedings under this section.

7.134.2.1. Preliminary Procedures

The decision to initiate dismissal proceedings may be made by the faculty member's department chair or dean, with the concurrence of the Provost, or by the Provost. Prior to initiating formal proceedings, however, the department chair or dean shall confer with the faculty member in an effort to achieve, by means of thorough discussions, a mutually agreeable resolution. If such a resolution is achieved, no further proceedings under this policy will occur and no documents relating to dismissal will be retained in the faculty member's personnel records. If these efforts are not successful, a brief, nonprejudicial statement reciting that these informal measures were utilized but were not successful will be placed by the Provost in the disciplinary Formal dismissal proceedings are initiated by furnishing to the faculty member a statement of the charges. The charges must relate to one or more of the recognized grounds for dismissal (as set forth in the discussion of “adequate cause” above) and must be framed with reasonable particularity, indicating in at least general terms the factual basis for the charges. The statement must further inform the faculty member that dismissal is being sought and that the faculty member is entitled to a hearing on the charges, if he/she desires and if the matter proceeds to that stage. If any interim suspension is being imposed, the faculty member should be so informed in the statement. The statement is to be prepared by the department chair or the Dean and approved by the Provost, and it should be served upon the faculty member by personal delivery or by registered mail.

The Provost next appoints one or more faculty members to serve as preliminary action officers (PAOs), providing a copy of the statement of charges with the written notice of appointment. The PAO is to carry out the following duties:

(a.) Conduct a preliminary investigation of the charges, meeting with the academic administrator bringing the charges and with the faculty member to obtain further information. The PAO may interview other individuals and review documents as deemed helpful in gathering the facts relating to the charges. A written report is then made by the PAO to the Provost setting forth a summary of findings concerning the factual basis for the charges and a recommendation for action to be taken. Two actions may be recommended:

(b.) The PAO may attempt to facilitate resolution of the charges through informal consultation with the principal parties, mediation, or other voluntary means. If the principal parties agree to a settlement in this manner, the PAO summarizes the settlement in writing and informs the Provost. The case is then deemed closed.

Upon receipt of the PAO report, the Provost may accept and act on the recommendation (dismissing the charges or referring them for a formal hearing, as recommended), or the Provost may decide not to concur with the recommendation and dismiss the charges or refer them for a hearing as the Provost deems appropriate.
Referral of a case for dismissal proceedings may also be made pursuant to special University procedures established to address claims of discrimination, violation of ethical standards in research and other scholarly activity, and violation of conflict of interest policies.

7.2.2 Pre-Hearing Procedures

If a case is to be referred for formal proceedings, the faculty member is so informed and asked to respond to the charges. The faculty member should, in a written response to the Provost, answer the charges and indicate whether a hearing is desired. A statement that a hearing is not desired will be regarded as a waiver of any right to a hearing, and the matter will proceed without a hearing. The faculty member's response should be timely and in any event should be provided within two weeks after receipt of the statement of the charges. The alternative responses of the faculty member and a summary of subsequent proceedings in each case are as follows:

(a.) The faculty member may admit or acknowledge the truthfulness of the charges and waive a hearing. The decision regarding dismissal will then be made by the Provost. The faculty member and the department chair or dean may, prior to such decision, confer with the Provost and/or submit to the Provost materials that they respectively contend should bear upon the Provost's decision. A decision by the Provost to dismiss the faculty member may be appealed by the faculty member, within forty-five days, to the President, whose decision will be final.

(b.) The faculty member may deny the charges and/or deny that the charges support a finding of adequate cause but waive a hearing. The decision regarding dismissal will be made by the Provost, with right of appeal to the President, in accordance with the general procedure outlined in a. above.

(c.) The faculty member may deny the charges and/or deny that the charges support a finding of adequate cause and request a hearing. A hearing will then be held before a faculty panel constituted as set forth below.

(d.) A failure to respond will be regarded as a general denial and a request for a hearing.

7.2.3 Hearing Procedures

If the faculty member has requested a hearing in a dismissal proceeding, the following procedures will be followed:

(a.) The Provost will appoint an individual to act as proponent of the charges. The proponent is to be responsible for developing and presenting the case against the faculty member and handling other appropriate duties. The proponent may be any University employee, including the Department Chair or dean, who is not an attorney.

(b.) The faculty member may select an advisor to assist and represent the faculty member during the dismissal proceedings. The advisor may be any University employee who is not an attorney. The faculty member may also consult with an attorney. Such attorney may be present during the dismissal proceedings but may not participate as a representative of the faculty member before the faculty panel. An attorney who disrupts the flow of the proceedings may be excluded by the Hearing Panel.

(c.) The dismissal hearing will be conducted by a specially appointed Hearing Panel. The Hearing Panel will include five faculty members selected from among the members, regular or alternate, of the Faculty Appeals Committee (FAC). FAC members with bona fide reason for disqualification, such as bias, conflict of interest, or other cause, may remove themselves from the list of potential Hearing Panel members. A roster of remaining regular FAC members will be presented by the FAC Chair to the faculty member and the proponent, each of whom may request the FAC Chair to remove any FAC member for cause and each of whom may strike up to two FAC members from the list without stated cause. The FAC Chair will then select, by lot, five faculty from the remaining FAC members, and these five faculty will constitute the Hearing Panel. Alternate FAC members may be included on the roster if necessary to allow the operation of the foregoing selection process. The Hearing Panel will elect a chair from its members.

(d.) Notice of the date set for the hearing must be given to the parties at least twenty-one (21) days in advance of the hearing date.

(e.) The hearing will ordinarily be private, except that the faculty member will have the right, upon request to the Hearing Panel chair and absent compelling considerations involving privacy interests of other parties, to a hearing that is open to the public (barring only witnesses during periods when they are not testifying).

(f.) The burden of proof is on the party bringing the charges against the faculty member. This burden will be satisfied only by clear and convincing proof of the charges in the record of evidence, considered as a whole, presented to and received by the Hearing Panel. "Clear and convincing proof" refers to evidence of sufficient quantity and quality as would show that the truth of the charges is highly probable.

(g.) In the event the faculty member, after requesting a hearing, does not participate in the hearing process or withdraws in writing the request for a hearing, the Hearing Panel will nevertheless be convened without the faculty member to make findings of fact and provide recommendations regarding dismissal, if necessary or appropriate under the circumstances. The Panel may solicit and receive evidence from any source to assist it in developing its findings and recommendations.

(h.) The Hearing Panel will submit its findings and recommendations in a written report through the Provost to the President. It may conclude that adequate cause for dismissal does not exist, in which case it may recommend no sanctions or a sanction less than dismissal. The Provost will indicate concurrence or nonconcurrence with the report.

(i.) The final decision will be made by the President. If the President does not accept the recommendations of the Hearing Panel, the President will, within twenty-five (25) working days after receipt of the report, convey in writing to the Hearing Panel his/her position and allow the Hearing Panel an opportunity to respond in writing within five (5) working days. After receipt of any further report from the Hearing Panel, the President will render a final decision. No further right of appeal within the University, such as by use of the faculty General Grievance Procedure (see Appendix E) will be available to the faculty member.

(j--) The President will notify the faculty member of the decision in writing, to be hand delivered or sent by registered mail. Copies are to be sent to the Hearing Panel, the academic administrators involved in the case, the proponent, and the adviser. These parties will also be provided a copy of the Hearing Panel's report and any written communications between the President and the Panel. If the President decides on dismissal of the faculty member, an effective date (which may be the date of the notice) must be stated.

(k--) Except as modified above, the additional procedures set forth in Appendix E, section D.1-5, relating to grievance hearings by the Faculty Appeals Committee, are also to be used for dismissal proceedings, as appropriate and as adapted (e.g., the charged party generally relates to the “petitioner” in Appendix E).

All documents related to a disciplinary proceeding, from the preliminary action phase through a hearing, if any, become part of a disciplinary file that is maintained, after the conclusion of the proceeding, in the Provost's office.
Interim Suspension

A faculty member may be suspended or assigned to other duties in lieu of suspension pending the outcome of the dismissal proceedings if, and only if, such action is deemed necessary to protect the faculty member, other members of the University community, or institutional property or processes from immediate harm. A decision regarding such interim suspension is to be made by the Provost. The faculty member may appeal an interim suspension to the President, whose decision will be final. Ordinarily, salary will continue during such an interim suspension.

Sanctions Other Than Dismissal

Other Major Sanctions

If a department chair or dean believes that the conduct of a faculty member may not justify dismissal under the standards set forth above but is sufficiently grave to warrant suspension from employment without pay for a period of one month or more or reduction in salary, formal proceedings may be instituted seeking such action. The procedures set forth in Section 7.13.2 will govern such a proceeding. In the statement of charges, the faculty member should be informed that the proceedings may result in major sanctions, including dismissal.

Minor Sanctions

Disciplinary action involving sanctions less than dismissal, suspension without pay for one month or more, or reduction in salary may also be imposed. Such minor sanctions may include, without limitation, an oral warning, a letter of reprimand, a revised work assignment, a suspension with pay or a suspension without pay for less than one month, the denial of a merit salary increase, etc. Such actions are within the authority of a department chair and/or dean, except that any suspension may only be imposed by the Provost.
Imposition of a minor disciplinary sanction will occur only for adequate cause, which may include any conduct or performance problem adversely affecting the fitness of the faculty member to function in the role of teacher, researcher, or colleague in an academic community, such as professional or personal misconduct; failure, without adequate justification and whether due to incompetence or refusal, to perform academic duties in accordance with generally accepted norms; conviction of a serious crime; violations of other law or of University policy; etc.

Procedurally, the faculty member will be given notice of the charge and the intent of the administrator to impose a minor sanction and thereafter will be allowed an opportunity to present a defense to the administrator. The administrator will conduct an investigation and review of the relevant circumstances as may be necessary to determine the validity and assess the seriousness of the charge.

In any instance in which a minor sanction is imposed under these procedures, the faculty member shall have full access to those avenues of appeal and redress afforded by the faculty General Grievance Procedure set forth in Appendix E.

7. Faculty Rights and Responsibilities

7.1.1. Faculty Discrimination Complaints

A faculty member who believes that she or he has been discriminated against on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including marital or parental status), pregnancy, sexual orientation, age, disability, citizenship, genetic information, or status as a Vietnam-era special disabled, or other eligible veteran violation of may file a complaint of discrimination in violation of the policy stated in Section 7.1 using the procedures set forth in the University's Discrimination Grievance Procedure (http://www.uah.edu/legal/uah_policy_pdfs/Discrimination%20Grievance%20Procedures.pdf).

7.1.2. Faculty Responsibilities

All faculty members have a responsibility to adhere to the University's Equal Employment Opportunity, Nondiscrimination, and Affirmative Action Policy (Section 7.1) in their interactions with students, prospective students, and other members of the university. Actions by a faculty member that discriminate against another member of the university community in violation of the University's Equal Employment Opportunity, Nondiscrimination, and Affirmative Action Policy may be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with Section 7.1.14. Disciplinary action against a faculty member for alleged violation of the University's Equal Employment Opportunity, Nondiscrimination, and Affirmative Action Policy (Section 7.1) will be implemented in accordance with policies and procedures governing the discipline or dismissal of a faculty member for cause in Section 7.1.14.
7.145.2. Academic Freedom

Academic freedom of the faculty is indispensable to fulfilling the university's mission. The university endorses the following excerpt from the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) policy statements on academic freedom from the AAUP Policy Documents and Reports, (1990) (pp. 3-4):

7.145.2.1. Academic Freedom in Scholarship and Research

"Teachers are entitled to full freedom in research and in the publication of the results, subject to the adequate performance of their other academic duties; but research for pecuniary return should be based upon an understanding with the authorities of the institution."

7.145.2.2. Academic Freedom in Creative Activities

"Works of the visual and the performing arts are important both in their own right and because they can enhance our understanding of social institutions and the human condition. Artistic expression in the classroom, the studio, and the workshop therefore merits the same assurance of academic freedom that is accorded to other scholarly and teaching activities. Since faculty and student artistic presentations to the public are integral to their teaching, learning, and scholarship, these presentations merit no less protection. Educational and artistic criteria should be used by all who participate in the selection and presentation of artistic works. Reasonable content-neutral regulation of the 'time, place, and manner' of presentations should be developed and maintained. Academic institutions are obliged to ensure that regulations and procedures do not impair freedom of expression or discourage creativity by subjecting artistic work to tests of propriety or ideology."

The University of Alabama in Huntsville is "...not responsible for the views or the attitudes expressed in specific artistic works any more than...[it] would be for the content of other instruction, scholarly publication, or invited speeches. Correspondingly, those [faculty and students] who present artistic work should not represent themselves or their work as speaking for the institution and should otherwise fulfill their educational and professional responsibilities."

7.145.2.3. Academic Freedom in Teaching

"Teachers are entitled to freedom in the classroom in discussing their subject, but they should be careful not to introduce into their teaching controversial matter which has no relation to their subject. Limitations of academic freedom because of religious or other aims of the institution should be clearly stated in writing at the time of the appointment."
7.145.2.4. Academic Freedom in Extramural Utterances

College and university teachers are citizens, members of a learned profession and officers of an educational institution. When they speak or write as citizens, they should be free from institutional censorship or discipline, but their special position in the community imposes special obligations. As scholars and educational officers, they should remember that the public may judge their profession and their institution by their utterances. Hence they should at all times be accurate, should exercise appropriate restraint, should show respect for the opinions of others, and should make every effort to indicate that they are not speaking for the institution.

If the administration believes that a faculty member’s extramural utterances have not complied with the admonition to “…exercise appropriate restraint, should show respect for the opinions of others, and should make every effort to indicate that they are not speaking for the institution….” (American Association of University Professors. 2006. “1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure with 1970 Interpretive Comments.” AAUP Policy Documents & Reports, Tenth Edition, pp. 3-4), the university may take disciplinary action against the faculty member. Any such disciplinary action must be taken in accordance with Section 7.13-14 and in accordance with all procedural protections prescribed American Association of University Professors’ “1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure with 1970 Interpretive Comments.” (AAUP Policy Documents & Reports, Tenth Edition, pp. 3-4). In disciplinary case in which the administration seeks to dismiss a faculty member for external utterances that do not comply with the aforementioned admonitions, “The controlling principle is that a faculty member’s expression of opinion as a citizen cannot constitute grounds for dismissal unless it clearly demonstrates the faculty member’s unfitness to serve. Extramural utterances rarely bear upon the faculty member’s fitness for continuing service. Moreover, a final decision should take into account the faculty member’s entire record as a teacher and scholar. In the absence of weighty evidence of unfitness, the administration should not confer charges; and if it is not clearly proved in the [disciplinary] hearing that the faculty member is unfit to continue…” (American Association of University Professors’ “Committee A Statement on Extramural Utterances,” AAUP Policy Documents & Reports, Tenth Edition, p. 32.), the finding must be that there is not cause for dismissal of the faculty member.

7.145.3. Professional Ethics

The University adopts the following excerpt from the “Statement on Professional Ethics” from the AAUP Policy Documents and Reports, (pp. 75-76):

1. Professors, guided by a deep conviction of the worth and dignity of the advancement of knowledge, recognize the special responsibilities placed upon them. Their primary responsibility to their subject is to seek and to state the truth as they see it. To this end professors devote their energies to developing and improving their scholarly competence.

They accept the obligation to exercise critical self-discipline and judgment in using, extending, and transmitting knowledge. They practice intellectual honesty. Although professors may follow subsidiary interests, these interests must never seriously hamper or compromise their freedom of inquiry.

2. As teachers, professors encourage the free pursuit of learning in their students. They hold before them the best scholarly and ethical standards of their discipline. Professors demonstrate respect for students as individuals and adhere to their proper roles as intellectual guides and counselors. Professors make every reasonable effort to foster honest academic conduct and to ensure that their evaluations of students reflect each student's true merit. They respect the confidential nature of the relationship between professor and student. They avoid any exploitation, harassment, or discriminatory treatment of students. They acknowledge significant academic or scholarly assistance from them. They protect their academic freedom.

3. As colleagues, professors have obligations that derive from common membership in the community of scholars. Professors do not discriminate against or harass colleagues. They respect and defend the free inquiry of associates. In the exchange of criticism and ideas professors show due respect for the opinions of others. Professors acknowledge academic debt and strive to be objective in their professional judgment of colleagues. Professors accept their share of faculty responsibilities for the governance of their institution.

4. As members of an academic institution, professors seek above all to be effective teachers and scholars. Although professors observe the stated regulations of the institution, provided the regulations do not contravene academic freedom, they maintain their right to criticize and seek revision. Professors give due regard to their paramount responsibilities within their institution in determining the amount and character of work done outside it. When considering the interruption or termination of their service, professors recognize the effect of their decision upon the program of the institution and give due notice of their intentions.

5. As members of their community, professors have the rights and obligations of other citizens. Professors measure the urgency of these obligations in the light of their responsibilities to their subject, to their students, to their profession, and to their institution. When they speak or act as private persons they avoid creating the impression of speaking or acting for their college or university. As citizens engaged in a profession that depends upon freedom for its health and integrity, professors have a particular obligation to promote conditions of free inquiry and to further public understanding of academic freedom.
7.4.4 Extramural Professional Activities and Conflict of Interest
The university has no interest in setting forth policies and procedures that may interfere with legitimate outside interests of faculty members. Issues of academic freedom are addressed elsewhere in this Handbook (See Section 7.14.15).

By accepting employment with UA, full-time in any categories of appointment, except adjunct faculty appointments and temporary, fixed-assignment faculty appointments, faculty members confirm that their primary professional commitment is to the university. Outside obligations, financial interests or other and have a responsibility to ensure that extramural professional activities do not interfere with this primary obligation. With the exception of faculty members appointed as adjunct or temporary, fixed-assignment faculty, all faculty members who engage in private business ventures that directly compete against the university or who participate for compensation in a private business that utilizes the faculty member’s professional background and qualifications essential to his or her faculty position, including private consulting activities, shall comply with the university’s policy on conflicts of interest in Section 7.14.15.

7.14.5. Conflicts of Interest

The purpose of this policy is to set forth guidelines and procedures in identifying and resolving actual and potential conflicts of interest. The policy also pertains to all sponsored projects conducted by a faculty member through the university.

7.14.5.1. What Constitutes a Conflict of Interest

A conflict of interest exists when a faculty member’s responsibility for teaching, scholarly and/or creative activities, or service is threatened or harmed because of an external relationship which directly or indirectly affects the financial interest of the faculty member or the financial interest of a family member or associate of the faculty member. For the purposes of this policy, a “family member” is defined as spouse, adult sponsored dependent, children, parents, grandparents, grandchildren, siblings, and other similar relationship in-law, an associate is defined as a business partner. In addition, a conflict of interest exists when a faculty member makes more than a de minimus use of university academic, administrative, or other resources, or influences university decisions in such a way that could or does lead to personal gain or improper personal advantage or advantage to a family member or associate.

All faculty members must insure that their conduct meets high ethical standards. This includes identification and disclosure of actual and potential conflicts of interest. Situations in which concern about possible conflicts may arise include but are not limited to the following:
a. Any situation in which the actions of the faculty member in discharging his or her duties as an employee of the university may directly or indirectly affect the financial interest of a family member or associate.

b. Any situation in which the faculty member provides services or material for the university and receives payment beyond normal compensation as a university employee.

c. Any situation in which a faculty member makes more than a de minimus use of university resources (including its students and its name) in such a way that could lead to personal gain, improper personal advantage, or advantage to a family member or associate of the family member.

d. Any situation in which a faculty member or a family member or associate of a faculty member participates in a private business venture that directly competes against the university, especially if the competitive ability of the business can be enhanced as a result of the faculty member's position at UAH.

e. Any situation in which a faculty member, other than an adjunct faculty member or a temporary, fixed-assignment faculty, participates in a private business utilizing his or her professional expertise derived from professional background and qualifications essential to the faculty position in such a manner as to compete with the university, especially in activities that could be done by the faculty member as a funded activity through the university.

f. Any situation in which the faculty member, other than an adjunct faculty member or a temporary, fixed-assignment faculty, teaches for another institution.

g. In situations in which UAH is engaged in or has the intent to engage in a sponsored project with an external commercial organization, a conflict of interest may occur if the faculty member has an existing affiliation with the external commercial organization, or with an organization that has a subcontractor or vendor relationship with that external commercial organization. Such affiliation may include, but not be limited to the following: 1) faculty member is officer, director, trustee, partner, employee, board member or agent; 2) faculty member is owner or beneficial owner of the voting stock or controlling interest; or 3) faculty member receives significant income from the funding organization, a subcontractor or vendor. The Office of Research Administration retains copies of appropriate federal guidelines on acceptable affiliations. Faculty members are expected to comply fully and promptly with all policy components, and principal investigators on sponsored projects must complete the appropriate disclosure form before proposal submission or whenever a potential conflict arises during the course of a sponsored program.

7.4.5.2. Procedures for Disclosing and Resolving Potential Conflicts of Interest

The university and its faculty have the obligation to identify and resolve any potential for conflict of interest. Identification of potential conflict of interest may also be required by state or federal laws and by the regulations of various funding organizations such as the National Science Foundation. Timely disclosure of circumstances that could, reasonably, be perceived as involving conflict of interest, even though no actual conflict of interest exists, can prevent disruptive allegations of misconduct and can better enable the university to protect its faculty against unwarranted allegations of impropriety.
Faculty members with possible conflict of interest, or those engaging in activities that could be perceived as involving conflict of interest that could affect the university, must consult with their chair and dean to seek resolution of the issue. In such cases, if the Chair and Dean agree that there is a potential conflict of interest, the faculty member, Dean, and Chair shall establish a plan of action to provide a course of action to prevent conflicts and shall give a copy of the plan of action to the Provost.

To aid in identifying potential conflict of interest and to insure compliance with the regulations of funding agencies, principal investigators seeking external funding for university approved projects must file a disclosure form with the submission of the project proposal (Appendix J). While the grant or contract is pending or in place, disclosure must be filed whenever there is a change from the situation described in the latest disclosure form.

All faculty members who have substantial ownership of a private business or corporation and whose activities in that business or corporation make substantial use of the faculty member’s professional background and qualifications essential to his or her faculty, must disclose such ownership and activities to their chair and dean, and must obtain approval for any such activities engaged in by the faculty member during the academic year. Such activities must be reviewed at least annually. Disclosure and request for approval of such activities must be processed using the form employed for approval of consulting activities as given in Appendix J.

Sponsors of funded projects such as governmental agencies may have varying disclosure requirements. These requirements may differ from those established in this policy with respect to other disclosure items, amounts, timing of disclosure, and other conflict of interest considerations. In such instances, the legal requirements will prevail.

7.145.5.3. Professional Review Committee

When an alleged or potential conflict arises, the faculty member, in consultation with faculty member’s department chair and dean, shall take action to achieve appropriate resolution of the issue. If resolution is not to the satisfaction of the faculty member or the dean, the case may be referred to the Provost by either party. The Provost will refer the file to an ad hoc professional review committee. The professional review committee will be responsible for reviewing the situation and making a timely, written recommendation(s) to the Provost.

The professional review committee (PRC) will consist of five tenured faculty members, three from the faculty member's college and two from outside the college. The members of the committee are appointed by the Provost from a list of twelve eligible faculty members, four each suggested by the faculty member, the faculty member's department chair, and the faculty member's dean. At least one member from each list must be included. The PRC will elect one of its members to serve as chair of the committee. The Provost may appoint additional appropriate ex officio, non-voting members. A simple majority of voting members is required for action. Except in unusual circumstances, deans and other administrators within the academic setting will not serve on the professional review committee. If the faculty member is not satisfied with the professional review committee's recommendations, the faculty member may appeal following the normal grievance procedure specified in Appendix E, beginning with an appeal to the Provost.
After proposed activities have been reviewed and a plan of resolution submitted to and approved by the Provost, the university has the obligation to defend the activity given that the faculty member complies with the plan of action, other appropriate university policies, disclosure requirements, and the law.

7.145 5.4 Procedures for Handling Allegations of Violation of Conflict of Interest Policy—see Appendix I.

Any allegation of violation, by a faculty member, of the Conflict of Interest or Consultation Policies shall be reported in writing with supporting documentation to the faculty member’s chair and dean. The faculty member against whom the allegations are made will be provided a copy of the written allegations at the time of the first review by the Chair and the Dean. If the allegations involve the dean, the allegations are reported to the Provost who assumes the role of the dean in the following process. It is the duty of the Chair and dean to review and discuss the allegations with all parties involved, including the faculty member accused of violating a conflict of interest policy. If the matter cannot be resolved at this level, then an ad hoc professional review committee will be formed in accordance with procedures articulated in Section 7.145.5.3. In such cases, the professional review committee will be responsible for conducting an independent investigation of the allegations of violation of the conflict of interest policy, to make a finding of whether or not the weight of evidence substantiates the allegations, and to make recommendations regarding the resolution of the case. These recommendations may include, but are not limited to, recommending that:

a. all charges be dismissed, b. appropriate sanctions be imposed without specifying the sanctions, or

c. specific sanctions be imposed.

The committee prepares a report of its findings and recommendations and submits it to the Provost. The Provost communicates his or her decision to the faculty member and includes a copy of the committee report. Sanctions may not be imposed on a faculty member unless

   a. the faculty member agrees, in writing, to accept the sanctions, or b. the sanctions are consistent with the findings of the professional review committee.

Sanctions may not include long-term suspension or the termination of a tenured faculty member. In extreme cases, however, procedures leading to suspension for more than one month or for the termination of a tenured faculty member may be initiated as a result of the committee’s findings, with the committee’s report being admissible evidence in these proceedings. In every case, of course, the faculty member has full right to appeal through normal university grievance procedures. Willful violations of this policy such as failure to disclose an actual or potential conflict, or failure to follow a plan of action established by the appropriate dean or the Provost, will result in sanctions being imposed upon the faculty member.
Throughout the process all persons involved must maintain the highest possible standards of ethics. Confidentiality must be insured to the greatest extent possible consistent with the carrying out of reviews and all involved must strive to maintain impartiality.

Records pertaining to disclosure and professional review committee proceedings are maintained in the Office of the Provost and access will be permitted only to the faculty member, and others who, under existing law, have the right to review such records.

7.145.5.5 Conflict of Interest Pertaining to Family Members

Reasonable restrictions are set on the capacity of all individuals with faculty status employed by the university to function as judge or advocate in specific situations involving members of their immediate family. Faculty members may neither initiate nor participate in institutional decisions involving a direct benefit to a family member, including decisions pertaining to initial appointment, retention, promotion, salary, leaves of absence, and other such benefits to family members.

Immediate family is defined to include one’s spouse, parents, grandparents, children, grandchildren, brothers, sisters, or similar relationships, as defined in law. Section 7.1415.5.1. No appointing authority may employ or appoint a person related to him or her within the fourth degree of affinity or consanguinity to any job or position within the university.

7.145.5.6 Tutoring

No one on the payroll of the university is permitted to tutor any UAH student for compensation except with the permission of the chair of the department or program in which the student is being tutored and only in those cases where the tutor has no direct connection with the course in which the student is being tutored.

7.145.5.7 Political Activity

Faculty members are authorized to engage in political activity provided that it does not result in a conflict of interest or interfere with their performance of assigned duties at the university or their ethical obligations as teachers and scholars. Public support of a political candidate or cause may be given by university employees if they clearly indicate that they speak for themselves and not for the university. No university employee or faculty member may not lend the name of their university positions or departments to the political campaigns of public candidates or to any causes that become matters of civic concern. Violations of this policy are grounds for dismissal.

Faculty members desiring to seek election to public office must obtain written consent from the chancellor through appropriate reporting channels.

No university employees may use or permit to be used university resources, time, or property for or on behalf of any political candidate, campaign, or organization or for any contribution or solicitation of any contribution to any campaign or organization. Faculty members should not solicit contributions of time or money for political parties or campaigns from students enrolled in their classes.

Political activity on the part of a university employee must comply with Rule...
320 of the Board of Trustees of The University of Alabama and existing state and federal laws. Employees, specifically Faculty members, who have a question about their involvement in such activities should seek guidance and approval from the university.

UAH Faculty Handbook (2013)
Violations of this policy are grounds for disciplinary action, in accordance with Section 7.14.13.4.

7.14.5.8 Service as Bank Director by University Officers

Faculty members shall not initiate or reciprocate a sexual or romantic relationship with a student enrolled in any of their classes or under their supervision. Faculty members entering into such relationships with an existing student are subject to judicial review, reprimand, and possible termination.

In cases of established in which there is prior sexual or romantic relationships between a faculty member and a student entering your class as a student or coming under your supervision, the faculty member must disclose the relationship to his or her chair or equivalent and dean in order to avoid or mitigate any potential conflict of interest claims related to the student in question. Faculty members also have a responsibility to act in a professional manner with respect to the student during class hours to avoid conflict of interest claims that may arise from other students in the class.
The University of Alabama in Huntsville (UAH or University) is committed to promoting a safe, respectful, and non-threatening campus environment. Intimidating, threatening, and/or potentially violent behaviors are disruptive to UAH's objective of a secure atmosphere for its students, faculty, staff, and visitors. The Behavioral Evaluation and Threat Assessment (BETA) Team's mission is to provide a proactive, coordinated, and planned approach to the identification, assessment, management, and, where possible, reduction and/or prevention of behavior that falls into the high risk, moderate risk, and low risk classifications.

While it is impossible to eliminate all risk, the following BETA guidelines are designed to educate members of the UAH community (students, faculty, staff, and visitors) on how to report alarming/threatening behavior and/or potentially violent acts and how this information will generally be assessed and analyzed. UAH considers any situation in which an individual presents a violent risk to the campus community as serious in nature. UAH encourages all members of the campus community to maintain a reasonable concern for their own self-welfare as well as the welfare of others.

Report emergency situations involving behavior that appears to pose a clear and immediate threat of violence or self-harm immediately to UAH Police (UAHPD) by dialing 256-824-6911 or 911.

I. REPORTING PROCEDURES

For situations where there does not appear to be an immediate risk, reporting instructions are below:

A. Reporting a Student

Reports of concerning student behavior should be made to the Dean of Students by calling (256) 824-6700, the appropriate Academic Dean, the BETA Chair (256) 824-6335, or by submitting a Charger 360 Person of Concern report. If necessary, the Dean of Students will notify parents, the BETA Team, UAHPD, and university resources such as Student Ethics & Education, University Counsel, and Counseling Services.

B. Reporting a Faculty Member
Reports of concerning faculty members' behavior should be made to Office of Human Resources by calling 256-824-6545 and the appropriate Academic Dean, or by submitting a Charger 360 Person of Concern report. Human Resources or the Academic Dean will notify the BETA Team.

C. Reporting a Staff Member

Reports of concerning staff members' behavior should be made to the Office of Human Resources by calling 256-824-6545, the employee's supervisor, or by submitting a Charger 360 Person of Concern report. Human Resources or the Employee's Supervisor will then notify the BETA Team.

II. MISSION AND OBJECTIVES
The BETA Team’s mission is to provide a proactive, coordinated, and planned approach to the identification, assessment, management, and, where possible, reduction and/or prevention of behavior that falls into the HIGH Level of Concern, MODERATE Level of Concern, or LOW Level of Concern classifications defined below. Key objectives for the team include:

- Providing a repository for information about behavioral concerns across different campus units so as to identify persons in distress as early as possible;
- Facilitating timely communication among different campus units about individual behavioral concerns;
- Investigating or gathering additional information about individuals of concern, including individuals outside of the University community;
- Assessing the information so that the University can devise an appropriate response;
- Recommending interventions, threat management plans, active monitoring plans, and other case management strategies that connect individuals of concern with needed resources;
- Recommending plans for reintegrating a subject once initial actions are complete and the threat eliminated;
- Assisting with the education of the campus community about the types of behavior or concerns that they should report to team members; and
- Developing policy recommendations based on an evaluation of data on individual behavior dealt with by the team.

III. COVERAGE

These guidelines shall apply to all UAH students, faculty, staff, and visitors. These guidelines also apply to activities and events that occur on UAH-owned and/or controlled property, buildings, premises, facilities, etc. and to activities and events, regardless of the location, sponsored by UAH or by any UAH-recognized organizations.

These guidelines are not intended to be a set of inflexible requirements, nor are they intended to limit the appropriate discretion of officials as warranted by the specific circumstances of a particular individual/incident. The BETA Team is a problem-solving resource and not a replacement for appropriate managerial action. These guidelines do not provide for adjudication of misconduct by, discipline of, or imposition of sanctions on UAH students, faculty, staff, or visitors. Such action may be taken against individuals whose behavior is addressed under these guidelines pursuant to UAH’s student, faculty, or staff disciplinary policies and procedures as well as applicable federal, state, or local laws. These guidelines do not have the force and effect of law.

VI. DEFINITIONS

Threat: An intention, whether expressed or implied, to inflict physical injury or damage on or take hostile action with respect to an individual (oneself or another), a group of individuals, or property, whether the person communicating the threat has the ability to carry out the threat, whether the threat is made on a present, future, or conditional basis, or whether the threat is made in person, through another person, in writing, over the phone, in the mail, electronically, or by any other means.

Threat Management Plan: An active, individualized case management plan based on information gathered in an investigation and on other facts known about the subject(s). It is intended to help de-escalate, contain, or, if possible control, a subject who has exhibited behavior(s) classified by the BETA Team as “HIGH Level of Concern” as defined below; to decrease the vulnerabilities of possible targets of such behaviors; to discourage escalation of the circumstances; and to prepare for and mitigate against precipitating events that may trigger such behaviors.

Active Monitoring Plan: An active, individualized case monitoring plan based on information gathered in an investigation and on other facts known about the subject(s). It is intended to facilitate the monitoring of a subject who has exhibited “MODERATE Level of Concern” behavior as defined below and to provide for periodic re-assessment of a subject’s behavior and corresponding potential threat level. Active monitoring may also be used as follow-on to a HIGH Level of Concern threat management plan once a threat has diminished to MODERATE Level of Concern to ensure that behavior is effectively managed.

HIGH Level of Concern: Behavior that appears to pose a clear and immediate threat of violence or self-harm, and requires immediate containment. It requires law enforcement, target protection, and development of a threat management plan. It includes, but is not limited to:

- Possession of unauthorized weapons (guns, knives, etc.) on campus;
- Possession of bombs or bomb-making materials;
- Physical assault or attempted assault, with or without weapons;
- Specific threats to inflict harm to self and/or a named individual (e.g., a threat to shoot a named individual);
- Physical, drug-related, or psychiatric disorders that may pose a potential harm to the physical or emotional well-being of the individual or others;
- Physical actions short of actual contact/injury, but which appear intended to provoke a physical response from the target individual(s) (e.g., moving closer aggressively, waving arms or fists, yelling in an aggressive or threatening manner).

MODERATE Level of Concern: Risk to UAH students, faculty, staff, and visitors appears to be moderate. Violent action is possible, but not probable. Threat is still not entirely realistic in nature. Analysis of threat suggests some thought/action on how to go forward by person of concern, i.e. a specific time and location noted for actions. No clear indication of preparatory steps taken by person of concern. Person of concern may attempt to convey seriousness of situation. It includes, but is not limited to:
General, specific, or implicit threats, whether or not made in a "joking" manner (e.g., "you better watch your back," "I'll get you," or "you'll be sorry"), including the use of any electronic means of communication;

- Stalking behavior;
- Vague statements regarding suicide or self-inflicted injury, violent thoughts, or violent intentions.

LOW Level of Concern: Behavior that, while it does not appear to pose a present threat of violence or self-harm or a significant risk of disruption, does provide the basis for a reasonable concern that a threat of violence or self-harm or significant risk of disruption may develop. Threat is vague and indirect in nature. Information within threat is inconsistent, implausible, or lacks detail. Threat is not realistic in nature/presentation. Available information suggests person of concern is unlikely to act violently. Examples include, but are not limited to:

- Writing stories, poems, or essays, or producing images that express or otherwise indicate a potentially dangerous fascination or preoccupation with violence to self or to others;
- Displaying a radical change in personal behavior, academic or workplace performance, appearance, or conduct.

No Identified Risk: Behavior that, subsequent to reporting and BETA Team investigation, does not appear to pose a threat of violence or self-harm at this time, nor is significant disruption to the community expected. The BETA Team will close such cases after proper documentation for future reference and trend analysis purposes.

Behavioral Evaluation and Threat Assessment (BETA) Team: A multi-disciplinary assessment team comprised of representatives from Academic Affairs, Dean of Students Office, Housing and Residence Life, College of Nursing, Human Resources, Counseling Services, UAHPD, Office of Risk Management and Compliance, Office of Diversity Equity and Inclusion (Title IX), Faculty Senate, and Staff Senate. The BETA Team reviews reports of alarming/concerning behavior and provides early intervention and support to individuals who present behavioral concerns.

Faculty or Staff: Any full or part-time employee of UAH, including, but not limited to, exempt or non-exempt staff, faculty, adjunct faculty, graduate research assistants, graduate teaching assistants, student workers, contract employees, and post-doctoral researchers/teachers/fellows (who have an employment relationship with UAH).

Student: Any individual enrolled at UAH in any of the recognized admission categories (undergraduate, graduate, etc.). An individual’s status as a student shall be deemed to encompass all activities carried out in connection with his/her application for admission to the University.
Visitor: Individuals who are not currently enrolled as students or employed with UAH (e.g., visitors, retirees, volunteers, former students, former employees, invitees, independent contractors, trespassers, etc.).

Workplace/Educational Setting: Any location, either permanent or temporary, where students, faculty, or staff perform any work-related duty or are involved in educational activities and/or University sanctioned events. This includes, but is not limited to, campus buildings and the surrounding perimeters, including the parking lots, field locations, student housing, and alternate work locations.

VII. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

A. BETA Principles and Procedures

1. Membership

The BETA Team consists of:

- Associate Provost (Chair, appointed by the Provost)
- Dean of Students
- Academic Dean (appointed by the Provost)
- Dean of the College of Nursing (or designee)
- Associate Vice President for Human Resources
- Director of Housing and Residence Life
- Title IX Coordinator (or designee)
- Director of Counseling Services
- Chief of Police
- Chief Risk and Compliance Officer (or designee)
- Faculty Senate Representative (nominated by the Faculty Senate for a three-year term)
- Staff Senate Representative (nominated by the Staff Senate for a three-year term)

A representative of the Office of Counsel will serve in an advisory capacity to the BETA Team. Additional ad hoc members may be included as required by the specific circumstances of a particular situation.

2. General Principles

The BETA Team will use a case-management based approach to respond to reports of students, faculty, and staff having difficulties and/or demonstrating concerning behaviors. The BETA Team should guide the process from internal assessment to recommending interventions with the objective of reducing the risk. This includes the development of a recommended plan for reintegration of the subject once initial actions are complete and the threat is eliminated.
The BETA Team will utilize available resources and additional members as appropriate to assist it in gathering information about a student, faculty, staff, or other university community member exhibiting behavioral concerns. The BETA Team may consult with other appropriate staff and/or medical/mental health experts in carrying out its assessment function. It is recognized that multi-disciplinary consultation is a critical part of the threat assessment protocol.

3. Process:

Report of Concern: The BETA Team may receive written or oral reports about behaviors of concern from any member of the campus community. An oral report, when needed depending on the situation, should be followed by a written report. Situations involving a HIGH Level of Concern should be immediately reported by the BETA Team to UAHPD. Persons reporting a MODERATE Level of Concern to the BETA Team should also be advised to report such matters directly to UAHPD.

Inquiry/Investigation: Upon receiving a report, the BETA Team will focus on determining whether or not the individual of concern poses, based on past and/or present behavior, a threat of violence or risk of disruption. The BETA Team may gather information and facts from all available sources. It will be granted limited access, as appropriate, to a student’s record, including his/her disciplinary record, and/or to a faculty or staff’s employment record. It may contact individuals with information about reported incidents or actions involving the individual of concern, as well as others (students, faculty, staff, local authorities, parents and family members, acquaintances, and other individuals who may know the individual or have pertinent knowledge). These inquiries may be made by the BETA Team acting as a convened group, a smaller group of designated members, or a designated BETA Team individual.

Assessment and Development of Plan: Based on information gathered by the BETA Team, a risk assessment shall be made of the subject individual’s reported behavior and that behavior will be classified as HIGH Level of Concern, MODERATE Level of Concern, LOW Level of Concern, or “no risk.” The BETA Team shall then develop a plan as outlined in these guidelines and as appropriate for the risk classification that has been assigned. The BETA Team will complete a risk assessment and develop a plan regardless of the outcome of any criminal proceedings initiated by law enforcement authorities and/or any disciplinary proceedings initiated by the University.

Referral/Recommendation: The BETA Team may make referrals or recommendations, as follows:

- Recommend actions to the appropriate University personnel including the Vice President of the pertinent administrative unit in each case. Recommended actions may include disciplinary procedures provided for by the Faculty, Staff, and/or Student Handbooks.

- Recommend that the subject faculty or staff member or student be referred for professional counseling and/or professional psychological assessment.
- Make recommendation(s) for the filing of criminal charges.
- Make recommendations for other actions as deemed appropriate.
- In case of a referral, appropriate federal and state laws regarding privacy will be followed.

Conclusion: Once the BETA Team has determined that the individual of concern does not pose or no longer poses a threat of violence or risk of significant disruption, the matter will be considered closed for the purposes of these guidelines. Involved parties may be informed when a situation is concluded. Reports regarding the disposition of the incident will be conveyed to the affected reporting individual(s), whenever possible and allowed by law.

- If follow up of a student is required or appropriate, the student of concern will be monitored by the Student Affairs and Academic Affairs offices.
- If follow up of a faculty or staff member of concern is required or appropriate, the employee will be monitored by his/her supervisor, Employee Assistance Program (EAP) personnel, Academic Affairs (for faculty), and/or Human Resources (for staff/researchers).

Action by Other Officials: The closing of a matter by the BETA Team is completely independent of, and will have no effect upon:

- For any individual of concern, the initiation or continuation of a law enforcement investigation into the individual’s conduct by campus or local law enforcement authorities and/or the institution of criminal proceedings against such individual.
- For a student of concern, referral for professional counseling, referral for professional psychological assessment, the initiation of student disciplinary proceedings, or other appropriate action by Student Affairs or by Academic Affairs officials.
- For a faculty or staff member of concern, referral for professional counseling, referral for professional psychological assessment, the imposition of disciplinary sanctions or the initiation of disciplinary proceedings, or other appropriate action by the faculty or staff member’s supervisor or other authorized officials.

It is anticipated that conduct violating University policy or rules or federal, local or state law will be addressed by institutional or civil/criminal proceedings initiated by those officials with the enforcement responsibility for such policy, rules, or law.

4. Meetings:
The Chair of the BETA Team will call an emergency meeting as soon as is practicable upon receipt of a report of conduct that may fall into the HIGH Level of Concern classification. In such situations, BETA membership duties should supersede all other responsibilities. The BETA Team should ordinarily meet within 72 hours of receipt of an initial report regarding conduct that appears to fall into the MODERATE Level of Concern behavior classification, and it should meet within a reasonable time under all the circumstances with respect to conduct that appears to fall into the LOW Level of Concern behavior classification. As long as there are active cases being addressed under a Threat Management Plan or an Active Monitoring Plan, the BETA Team should meet regularly. A representative of the Office of Counsel shall attend all BETA Team meetings, emergency or otherwise, in an advisory capacity.

5. Report:

A report of BETA activities will be submitted to the President and Provost at the end of every semester. This report will be in summary form, including numbers and actions only. Names of reporting persons and persons of concern shall never be included in any reports outside of BETA.

B. University Community Responsibilities

Each member of the UAH community has a role and responsibility in helping promote a safe and secure environment for the University.

All persons are strongly encouraged to be aware of their surroundings and to be alert for behavior that may present a threat of violence or risk of disruption. Students, faculty, and staff should be familiar with these guidelines and with the methods for reporting actual or potential threats to the UAH community.

See Something, Say Something: Members of the UAH community (students, faculty, and staff) are encouraged to immediately report any situation that involves concerning behavior by a student, faculty, staff, or campus visitor; behavior that is or may be threatening to the health and safety of the individual or of others; or behavior that is or may be disruptive to the University’s educational, research, and administrative activities. Any member of the University community who becomes aware of such a situation should report the matter to the BETA Team and/or UAHPD as appropriate to the observed behavior (see Section I: A,B,C for information on how to report).

Students, faculty, and staff who in good faith make such reports shall not be subjected to retaliation or harassment by UAH or any of its officials.

The making of a false or misleading report under these guidelines, with knowledge of or reckless indifference as to the falsity of the matters reported, may be considered misconduct under applicable conduct policies and may result in disciplinary action under UAH's student, faculty, and/or staff disciplinary procedures.

C. Security Planning for Potentially At-Risk Faculty, Staff, and Students

Some faculty or staff can be at risk for violence/hostility because of the nature of their jobs. Other students, faculty, and staff can be at risk because they are subject to violence, threats, or harassment from a current or former spouse or partner, or other third party. UAHPD, Human Resources, the Dean of Students Office, Counseling Services, and other offices will work with at-risk students, faculty, and staff to develop safety plans that address the specific risks they face.

1. Domestic/Partner Violence in the University Environment: In an effort to promote a safer work environment, faculty and staff who are victims of domestic violence or who believe they may be the target or victim of such violence, should promptly notify their supervisor, an appropriate administrator, Human Resources, the BETA Team, or UAHPD. Faculty and staff may have additional services available through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and should contact the Human Resources Benefits Coordinator at 256-824-6545 for a listing of available EAP resources.

Likewise, to promote a safer educational setting, students who are victims of domestic violence or who believe they may be the target of such violence, are encouraged to promptly notify the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, the Dean of Students, the BETA Team, or UAHPD. Confidential advocacy services are available to students through Counseling Services.

Students, faculty, and staff who have Protective Orders should provide copies to UAHPD so that this office can:

- Ensure appropriate law enforcement actions occur; and
- Assist in maintaining the safety of potential victims.

Examples of Protective Orders may include:

- Any order issued by a court that is intended to prevent one party from approaching another, often within a specified distance; or
- Any order issued by a court that is meant to protect a person from harm or harassment.

2. Pre-Employment Screening and Criminal Conviction Background Checks: Human Resources administers the University's policies on pre-employment screening and background reference checks. Accordingly, Human Resources will advise hiring managers when potential problems are identified during this process.
VIII. REPORTING THREATS AND VIOLENCE

A. Emergency Situations – HIGH Level of Concern Behavior

A situation possibly involving HIGH Level of Concern behavior should be considered an emergency and should be immediately reported to UAHPD. UAHPD may be reached as follows:

- 6911 from a campus phone;
- 256-824-6911 from a cellular or off-campus phone;
- 911 from any phone (off-campus calls go to Madison County 9-1-1 Center).

Examples of HIGH Level of Concern, emergency situations include, but are not limited to the following:

- Possession of unauthorized weapons (guns, knives, etc.) on campus;
- Possession of bombs or bomb-making materials;
- Physical assault or attempted assault, with or without weapons;
- Specific threats to inflict harm to self and/or a named individual (e.g., a threat to shoot a named individual).

B. Non-Emergency Situations – MODERATE Level of Concern and LOW Level of Concern Behavior:

Any situation involving a threat of violence or a risk of disruption that lacks immediacy and is clearly not within the “HIGH Level of Concern” classification should be reported pursuant to this section.

UAH’s Charger 360 (https://www.uah.edu/Charger360) provides a centralized way for UAH community members to report concerns and incidents or address observed difficulties that may impede a person’s success at UAH. Reporting a person of concern, where there does not appear to be an immediate risk, may be done as follows:

- Online through the Charger 360 tool:
  https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?UnivofAlabamaHuntsville&layout_id=6. (Reports may be submitted anonymously);
- Reports of concerning student behavior should be made to the Dean of Students by calling (256) 824-6700;
- Reports of concerning faculty member behavior should be made to Human Resources or the appropriate academic dean;
- Reports of concerning staff behavior should be made to the Human Resources office at (256) 824-2286, or to the employee’s supervisor.

Examples of conduct that may, depending on the circumstances, be considered appropriate for reporting as “non-emergency situations” include the following:
• A radical change in a person’s behavior, academic or workplace performance, appearance, or conduct;
• Aggressive or irrational behavior through words and/or actions;
• Severe depression, unhappiness, or irregular emotional behavior;
• Inability to control anger, confrontational or disturbing words or actions;
• Unusual overreaction to normal circumstances;
• A threat that lacks immediacy;
• Intentional damage to property;
• Unusual nervousness, tension, or anxiety;
• Expression of suicidal thoughts, feelings, or acts;
• Any other action, word, or behavior that one may reasonably believe could lead to violence;
• Threatening statements, displays, photos, or other publications in electronic format or communication;
• Other examples as found in risk definitions above (see Section IV).

IX. CONFIDENTIALITY

Members of the BETA Team will make every reasonable effort to maintain the confidentiality of information disclosed to it in the course of its activities. The BETA Team will take reasonable steps to maintain the privacy of those who make a referral, if requested. If the circumstances do not allow privacy to be maintained, this will be discussed with the person making the referral. Information will be released on a need-to-know basis within the campus community and in accordance with local, state, and federal laws and UAH policies. UAH administrators will be sensitive and responsive to the potential for reprisal directed at faculty, staff, or students who report behavior within the scope of these guidelines. All records will be appropriately maintained or disposed of, depending on investigation outcomes. Responsibility for BETA records resides with the UAH Office of Counsel, which will maintain the records for a period of seven (7) years.

X. EDUCATION AND TRAINING

A. University Community Training

For this program to be effective, it is important for the UAH community to be aware of these guidelines and the BETA Team, the kinds of behaviors encompassed within these guidelines, the importance of reporting such behaviors, and how to contact members of the BETA Team with concerns or comments.

Information regarding the BETA Team, its purpose, and this Policy will be periodically incorporated into faculty and staff training workshops, new faculty, staff, and student orientation sessions, and regularly scheduled safety programs presented by UAHPD, Office of Risk Management and Compliance, Human Resources, and other campus health and safety organizations as appropriate. In addition, the BETA Team will provide an overview of the program, listing of Team members, and reporting guidance and instructions by way of the UAH web site and other modes of communication it deems appropriate.

Training for students, faculty, and staff should consist of, but is not limited to, the following:

- Informational Opportunities: Presentations, brochure distribution, emails to all students, faculty, and staff, student orientation sessions, employee orientation sessions, and web page development addressing the following:
  - What is the BETA Team and what is its mission;
  - What characteristics to look for in persons of concern; and
  - How to submit a report to the BETA Team.

- Educational opportunities: Unit/departmental safety meetings, campus safety and security presentations, and student/organization safety presentations.

- Training Opportunities: In-depth training to assist members of the campus community in developing a skill set for assessing behavior that presents a threat of violence or a risk of disruption.

Department heads are encouraged to schedule training for supervisors and managers and to provide similar training for other staff as appropriate.

B. BETA Team Training and Education

It is expected that the BETA Team members identified above (Section VII.A) will participate in threat assessment training and professional development opportunities, and will be familiar with laws, regulations, and UAH policies applicable to the scope of the BETA Team’s mission.

C. A Note on the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

FERPA protects student education records and information in them from disclosure, subject to certain recognized exceptions. One such exception allows a UAH official to make disclosure when an emergency exists and disclosure is necessary to protect the health or safety of the student or other individuals. The determination of whether or not “necessity” exists requires a consideration of the seriousness of the health or safety threat, the urgency of the matter, the need for the information, and the ability of the recipient of the information to deal with the emergency. The Chief of Police, the Dean of Students, or the Office of Counsel may provide assistance in making this determination.

In addition, it is important to understand that a faculty or staff member’s observations of a student’s behavior are not within the scope of FERPA. For example, if a faculty or staff member sees a student exhibiting threatening behavior, the faculty or staff member may contact an appropriate University official for guidance on how to respond. In such a situation, an appropriate official might include members of the BETA Team, UAHPD, Counseling Services, the Dean of Students, a dean, a department chair, etc.

Disclosure of confidential student information to parents should only be made when consistent with FERPA and then only through the Dean of Students Office. The release of information about University students to the media should only be made by the University’s Office of Marketing and Communications.

Review

The Office of Risk Management and Compliance, in consultation with the BETA Team, is responsible for reviewing and updating these guidelines every five (5) years, or more frequently if organizational or situational changes warrant.

These guidelines and all subsequent revisions shall be included as an annex to the University’s Emergency Management Plan.
Present: Tim Newman, Joey Taylor, Carmen Scholz, Carolyn Sanders, Mike Banish, Emil Jovanov, Azita Amiri, Laird Burns

Absent: Jeff Weimer, Kader Frendi, Kwaku Gyasi

Ex-Officio and Guest: Interim Provost Bob Lindquist, President Darren Dawson

Guests: Andrea Word, Todd Barre

- Faculty Senate President Tim Newman called the meeting to order at 12:55 PM.

- Administrative Reports
  - President Dawson
    - Update on constructions, most important information: new classroom space will be built for Engineering in the Beville Center.
    - Taylor: What about counseling when Executive Plaza is demolished?
    - Dawson: Remotely, or in the offices of counselors?
    - Jovanov: Is it allowed to remove masks while teaching class and at the same time recording the class (as required in the fall), if the instructor is at least 6 feet away from students?
    - Lindquist: Yes, when socially distanced, and instructors should ask whether in class students have concerns.
    - Amiri: Recommends face shields to be worn, if instructor does not want to wear mask while recording.
    - Burns: Can students who are at home be given an older previously recorded lecture that is identical to the material covered in class that day?
    - Lindquist: No students may feel that they miss something important. All in-person classes must be recorded
  - Interim Provost Lindquist
    - Rhonda Gaede was appointed interim Associate Provost
    - Jon Hakkila accepted position of Associate Provost
    - CON on campus interviews finished & decision has been made yet
    - Karen Frith serves as interim dean
    - Louise O’Keefe serves a associate interim dean
    - Parents are concerned that classes may go back to virtual Michelle Greene reconfigured electronic equipment in classrooms; 130/150 classrooms now fully equipped. All classrooms have been tested, they work o Banish: Praise for Hayley from Classroom IT support (general consensus that Hayley does a wonderful job with classroom support).

Lindquist: Needs time to go through the Faculty Resolutions that are before the Provost.
  o Sanders: Curtis was the first provost who insisted on staying for the full senate meetings. This may have prevented senators from speaking, in particular if they are untenured. Lindquist should consider to return to the old mode of the Senate deliberating without the presence of a provost.
  o Lindquist: He is ok with that, dynamics have changed since Curtis left.
  o Amiri: Who decides which software is available for faculty?
  o Lindquist: Depends on who is paying.
  o Amiri: Needs professional version of EndNote, UA and UAB have that for their faculty, UAH students must either use lower quality free version, or pay themselves.
  o Lindquist: Deans must get involved.
  o Taylor: Suggests shared systems.

Report by Todd Barre:
  - Receive substantial state appropriation
  - Enrollment is down -500 student below target, currently at 9700 students
  - This costs us $3.4 million
  - In an effort to fix the scholarship matrix, we spend $9 million less
  - BOT was asked increase in College Fees and in in-state and out-of-state tuition
  - $5.00/credit hour infrastructure fee increase was granted, this goes exclusively into IT
  - Increase in meal plan
  - No increase in housing, parking and health care
  - Non-recurring appropriations:
    o from state: $2,989,732
    o from Redstone Research Retention: $2,700,000 (to attract/continue work with Redstone, specifically to build SCIF)
    o for state climatologist: $850,000 ear marked for John Christy, for him to use as he sees fit, e.g. services throughout the state on tornado, drought etc prediction
  - CARES total: $38 million
    o To be split 50/50 between students and institutional needs
    o $1.3 million for technology
    o $1.9 million for covid preparedness
    o A lot of money used to recuperate loss in tuition and auxiliary operation revenue loss ▪ Newman: Question about unfunded pension responsibility?
      ▪ Barre: BOT made the problem know to the state government, but not much success.
      ▪ Burns: Pay raise?
- Barre: 1% in pay raise costs UAH $ 1 million. Enrollment target was missed in 3 consecutive years. No pay raise to be expected because of drop in enrollment. Scholarship practices of last years brought us to this point, now within $ 3 to 4 million of filling the original gap of $ 12 million. Housing was covered for student with ACT of 32, now they have to have 36 ACT, to get housing covered. Central reserve was brought down by Altenkirch from $ 60 million to $ 2 million, a healthy reserve should be $ 20 million.
- Scholz: If the enrollment target was missed 3 times, isn’t then the target wrong.
- Barre: We were close to target.
- Sanders: Scholarship blunder keeps faculty from getting raises.
- Barre: “Loss of sight” In the future university will take 25% of unspent money from individual units (explanation: Academic affairs is e.g. a unit.
- Banish: If budget book was available, accurate and readable in the past years, scholarship disaster would have become apparent earlier, requests that budget book becomes accurate.
- Barre: Agrees, offers training for faculty to read the budget book.
- Sanders: Will open positions remain frozen.
- Dawson: Some positions will be filled. Top 50 public universities come out of pandemic advantageously because they can make up for losses by admitting more students.

  o Newman: Many senators resigned just before semester started, according to bylaws, senators who take their place will be assigned to committee by senate president.

- Agenda for FS meeting on 8/19/21
- Bill 462 for 3rd reading
- BETA policy 01.03.07 Banish moves to be placed on agenda, Amiri seconds, vote: unanimous
- Discussion of other business:
  o Burns: Pay data were received but without any identifiable information, will re-request.
  o Sanders: Faculty appeals committee: Faculty who placed an appeal does not get a copy of FAC report, can only read the report for 1.5 hours in office of L. Shelton, with police presence.

- Tim – We will keep record of everyone in the room. If you have a proxy, please let me know when I call you. I called the senate meeting today because have a number of reorganizations happening here at UAH. I was hoping that the President or Provost could attend to give more information on those. There are quite a few rumors in regards to our finances. I was hoping that you would be able to hear more on those today. After scheduling today, I learned that the Provost was unavailable as well as the President. You won’t be able to hear from our administrators or ask questions. I am going to tell you what I have been told. My information is one to two weeks stale. What you are hearing from me is from a filter that is why I wanted you to hear from administration.

- Approve FS 617 meeting minutes. Motion to approve: Kader moves. Azita seconds. Is there any motion to amend? Then let’s vote on approving senate meeting minutes. Ayes carry.

- Accept FSEC Report from June 30. Motion to receive: Kwaku moves. Mike seconds. Is there any motion to amend?
o Tim – Asked for unanimous consent – received; amendment will be accepted. Let’s vote on minutes as amended. Ayes carry.

➢ Officer/Committee Reports
  o Tim Newman, President
    ▪ Before I share my report, I will pull up the administration report from June 30. I will pull it up and allow you to read through it. The first one is President Dawson’s report. My recollection is a question was asked about the front building of Executive Plaza. I asked would that building be preserved. I believe the answer was it might be preserved longer than the others. I believe he also stated that space would be found for library storage. Next, I am sharing out the Academic Affairs brief. The main reason for the meeting today was to make you aware of the organization changes. The interruption in the Provost Office will not stop the search proceedings.
      • Laird - The Business School Dean Jason Greene has been reappointed.
    ▪ I received communication that the Provost will be here until the end of July. There will be an overlap of the incoming and outgoing Provost for about two weeks.
      • Laird – Bob Lindquist was appointed interim. He is not a candidate for the full Provost position. He will be chairing the search committee but we will have an external search committee.
    ▪ The next part of the report is on enrollment. Last summer was a record year for credit generation.
    ▪ I think you really need to know where we stand on enrollment. I think some may have heard we were 10% less than we were a year ago. Here are the numbers as of June 1st. I think you all should see is our FT Freshman numbers are trending about 20% below a year ago. Our sophomore numbers are -15%. As a result on June 30th, we are off about 4.9%.
      • Donna – Do we know if any of those differences in freshman and sophomore numbers are contributed to the withdrawal period? Could it be they haven’t obtained those hours to move forward?
      • Tim – I am not sure.
      • Donna – Having that withdrawal policy for three consecutive semesters may have caused those issues.
      • Joey – Is this the first or second year we are rolling back on scholarship matrix?
      • Laird- The second year.
      • Mike – The only rollback roll back to scholarship is we set it at dollar amounts not percentages. There were no raising of GPA’s. The question is always for me is not the number of students we have lost but the income that we have lost.
    ▪ The next item is the registration campaign. Lastly is a report of who is not registered. You have seen some of the reorganization information. The most critical is the replacement of head of Academic Affairs. We need to view this as a challenge as where do you want this administration to take the university. We need to think about our priorities. We have discussed our pay. It is an issue. Is this going to be a priority? Is the priority a faculty head count? Do we need an adjustment in support for faculty? Some other institutions provide some sort of these supports. Have we kept up in grading support? Some of your units are blessed with Course
Caps and others have not. It is not acceptable. What about summer duties? Some provide pay for these extra duties. Is our GT compensation rate acceptable? It would be nice if we could address all of these. I want to hit on our enrollment standings. Our central reserve went from $60M to under $2M. The university is not in the position to withstand major disruptions. You all need to be made aware of that. There is some good news. The VP for Finance told us that the tuition would not increase but infrastructure money would. We have a supplemental appropriation for technology. As long as the economy holds up, that will be released to us. It is close to $3M. For the coming FY, UAH will get $3.9M new monies. We were appropriated $34M in CARES. We have $18M left with $8M - $9M going to students.

- Kader – Is there a discussion of raises for faculty with the good news on budget?
- Tim – Todd stated there was some discussion on the raise pool. I think the target is 2%. I did understand if the enrollment campaign didn’t pick up steam that would have to be reconsidered.
- Kader – They are painting a good financial picture.
- Tim – We had $20M in one set of reserve pots in Sept. 2019. In Sept. 2020, those had increased to $24M. Those are targeted to individual units. We could have our central reserve go negative and temporarily borrow from those. There have been talks about pulling those funds back. My understanding is that we have one from $60M to under $2M in central reserves.
- Mike – We did pass a resolution asking for budget transparency for the budget book. You said you thought you saw a response?
- Tim – Yes, I just haven’t processed it yet. [Editor note: later search – after Senate had ended - revealed there had not been a response.]
- Laird – Todd has to work with the President and System Office. He has been open and shared what he could.
- Jeff – Do we have anticipation to hear if the system is going to require vaccinations for the fall?
- Tim – The system present is that is not required. That decision could be reviewed especially if it moves off the emergency list. There are some concerns of mandating that.

- Carmen Scholz, President-Elect
  - When I attended the …, I am representing the faculty. I will summarize and please pass on if it is interesting to your faculty. NIH will have diversity as a scoring part coming next year. The discussion shifted towards equality in funding. There is no such thing. If you are in a poorer university, the chances of funding drops. Native American and public institutions were stated to be biased in funding. Numbers show that people get funded after failing the time before. This biased is real and exist. We should not make it a sword to our tenure decisions. I feel these biases are being used in tenure decisions. NSF increased biographical sketch to 203 pages. NSF has continued to look at administration burden to faculty. That has remained the same. NSF bio sketch goes to 5 pages. They put more emphasis on work life balance. They are putting funds toward child care support. NASA funding is now requiring you to report. The NASA representative stated they are looking for visionary and credible proposals. The rest of the conference then turned to the next issues which seems to be foreign influence. A bunch of science from various countries published an article. The Chinese stated he received funding from Chinese government. The American publisher then got in trouble for co-publishing with the Chinese. Is this acceptable? We are paid for nine months, three months we are not. Our benefits continue during these three months. How does that play out in reporting? In reporting issues, the administration tries to shift the responsibility on faculty. The reporting issue for nine month faculty is not resolved. If someone signed a NDA, then everyone is in trouble. You cannot report what is in the NDA. You then break one rule or the other. Please convey to research faculty.

- Laird Burns, Past President

- Kader Frendi, Governance and Operations Committee Chair
  - No report.
- Azita Amiri, Undergraduate Curriculum Committee Chair
  - No report.
- Jeff Weimer, Finance and Resources Committee Chair
  - No report.
- Kwaku Gyasi, Faculty and Student Development Committee Chair
  - No report.
- Mike Banish, Personnel Committee Chair
  - No report.

Bill 463

- Tim – Is there a motion to approve on third reading? Mike moves. Carmen seconds.
  - Mike – I would like to motion to make an amendment to add in my statement at the end of 6.2. “Faculty Senators are expected to solicit the opinions of the Faculty in their respective Academic Units however, Administrative personnel should refrain from influencing Faculty Senators’ opinions.”
  - Tim – Is there a second? Kader seconds.
  - Laird – If you think that is sufficient that is fine.
  - Tim – Let’s vote on the motion to amend. Ayes carry.
  - Joey – What do you mean by administrative personnel?
  - Mike – Every level but within the academic unit as well.
  - Joey – I didn’t know if we needed to clarify what we are talking about.
  - Laird – Is the definition of a chair in the faculty handbook fall into administrative personnel? There have been issues with Deans having conversations in the past.
  - Mike – Chairs are eligible for faculty senate. Deans and above aren’t and are classified as administration. To make it more clear, administrators above the level of Chair.
  - Tim – Is there a second? Joey seconds. Let’s vote on this amendment. Ayes carry.
  - Ron – Do we have any faculty that have endowed chairs?
  - Tim – Is there a motion to add department to language? Member moves and second, and ayes then carry. Let’s vote on adopting Bill 463 as amended. Ayes carry.

Policy 03.01.02
Tim – We have a timeline that we have to respond to policies. The time will run out end of August or first of September on this policy. We are not voting to pass this as a resolution but if we object to it.

- Mike – Motion to accept.
- Tim – Second? Kwaku seconds.
- Carmen – On page 2 it says that students aren’t allowed to have pets on university property. I think they mean dorms. You can play with your pet on the soccer field.
- Tim – This item should be reexamined and clarified.
- Carmen – It should be restricted to dorms and all buildings.
- Tim – We would like that to be revised to state we don’t want pets in buildings. Kwaku seconds.
- Mike – Read again.
- Tim – Students are not allowed to have pets in university buildings.
- Jeff – My consideration on this is different that the concern is pets should not be permanent residence on university property. That shouldn’t just fall on students but faculty as well if we were to ever have faculty housing.
- Tim – The library brings in pets.
- Ron – They are service animals, not pets.
- Kwaku – They are emotional support animals. Those are not pets.
- Tim – The chair disagrees with you. I don’t think they can come if we change the language to Jeff’s request.
- Ron – They are volunteers with local therapy. This policy seems to specify student oriented things.
- Tim – The member spoke to change to remove all faculty and students to bringing pets.
- Jennifer – There are other instances where that would cause an issue. I bring my pet during a certain research time.
- Joey – This is a student affairs policy.
- Tim – We are all bound by them.
- Candice – I am niche case. I had a student with a service animal in training. They asked to bring the animal. I asked for the class to veto and no one did and I allowed it.
- Tim – There is a motion to add that service animals in training should be considered. Carmen seconds. Let’s vote on adding second point. Ayes carry.
- Ron – I would like to thank the member who brought up faculty housing. This is a student affairs policy I would recommend leaving it to that.
- Carmen – I want to second your opinion, Ron. Some universities have faculty housing, we do not. We review policies every five years and I don’t see that happening within that time.
- Mike – We do have students who will have permission to have therapy animals in buildings. This states that a non-resident student cannot bring their pet to campus. Stating that students can’t have pets on campus is a ridiculous statement.
- Kader – I second restricting this to just students. We have staff that bring their pets to office that plays as a therapy animal.
- Tim – I believe its wording only restricts students.
- Carmen – This policy was written to prevent students form having animals in the dorms. I understand that. We don’t want to make it as strict. If you bring your pet, that is fine. We are asking they don’t populate the dorms.
• Tim – Let’s vote. Ayes carry.

➢ Bill 462
  o Tim – Is there a motion to approve on second reading? Mike moves. Carmen seconds.
  ▪ Joey – 7.2.1.2 Non-Tenure Earning Faculty. In this section, there is a paragraph for lecturers. I would suggest that lecturers are included in this topic of non-tenure earning.
  ▪ Tim – The motion is to amend what is highlighted.
  ▪ Joey – Place lecturers in (4).
  ▪ Tim – Motion to amend 7.2.1.2. Is there a second?
  ▪ Kwaku – Then maybe 4 should be changed to 5.
  ▪ Tim – Are you okay with that, Joey? Is there a second? Kwaku seconds. Let’s vote on motion to amend. Ayes carry.
  ▪ Mike – Under 7.2.1.2.2 Clinical Faculty. Last sentence, strike with the exception of the College of Nursing.
  ▪ Tim – Motion to amend, then. Dr. Alexander seconds.
  ▪ Candice – What is the current ratio of nursing?
  ▪ Mike – About 3 – 1. Three clinical to one faculty. The standard is supposed to be 2 – 1 per the National Nursing Standard.
  ▪ Tim – Let’s vote on motion to amend by striking. Ayes carry.
  ▪ Joey – Motion to amend 7.2.2.1 to insert lecturer into heading. Mike seconds.
  ▪ Tim – Let’s vote on the motion to amend. Ayes carry.
  ▪ Laird – In the prior section 7.2.1.1, we call out an URL. We should strike it and refer to the board rule. Mike moves this. Candice seconds.
  ▪ Tim – Let’s vote on this motion on striking the URL. Ayes carry.
  ▪ Laird – 7.2.3.1 Faculty Holding, is see appendix C clear to everyone? I am assuming faculty handbook.
  ▪ Tim – Let’s vote on adopting 462 on second reading. Ayes carry but I vote no with my proxied vote; vote is not unanimous. It will now come back for third reading.
  ▪ Mike – Some of you in the last couple days have sent me some grammatical changes in this. It is a massive chapter to edit. I do ask you that you don’t send an edited document, but what you want edited.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA IN HUNTSVILLE

BEHAVIORAL EVALUATION AND THREAT ASSESSMENT (BETA) GUIDELINES

Number 01.03.07
Division Finance and Administration – Office of Risk Management and Compliance
Date October 2020
Purpose The University of Alabama in Huntsville (UAH or University) is committed to promoting a safe, respectful, and non-threatening campus environment. Intimidating, threatening, and/or potentially violent behaviors are disruptive to UAH’s objective of a secure atmosphere for its students, faculty, staff, and visitors. The Behavioral Evaluation and Threat Assessment (BETA) Team’s mission is to provide a proactive, coordinated, and planned approach to the identification, assessment, management, and, where possible, reduction and/or prevention of behavior that falls into the high risk, moderate risk, and low risk classifications.

Policy While it is impossible to eliminate all risk, the following BETA guidelines are designed to educate members of the UAH community (students, faculty, staff, and visitors) on how to report alarming/threatening behavior and/or potentially violent acts and how this information will generally be assessed and analyzed. UAH considers any situation in which an individual presents a violent risk to the campus community as serious in nature. UAH encourages all members of the campus community to maintain a reasonable concern for their own self-welfare as well as the welfare of others.

Report emergency situations involving behavior that appears to pose a clear and immediate threat of violence or self-harm immediately to UAH Police (UAHPD) by dialing 256-824-6911 or 911.

I. REPORTING PROCEDURES

For situations where there does not appear to be an immediate risk, reporting instructions are below:

A. Reporting a Student

Reports of concerning student behavior should be made to the Dean of Students by calling (256) 824-6700, the appropriate Academic Dean, the BETA Chair (256) 824-6335, or by submitting a Charger 360 Person of Concern report. If necessary, the Dean of Students will notify parents, the BETA Team, UAHPD, and university resources such as Student Ethics & Education, University Counsel, and Counseling Services.

B. Reporting a Faculty Member
Reports of concerning faculty members' behavior should be made to Office of Human Resources by calling 256-824-6545 and the appropriate Academic Dean, or by submitting a Charger 360 Person of Concern report. Human Resources or the Academic Dean will notify the BETA Team.

C. Reporting a Staff Member

Reports of concerning staff members' behavior should be made to the Office of Human Resources by calling 256-824-6545, the employee's supervisor, or by submitting a Charger 360 Person of Concern report. Human Resources or the Employee's Supervisor will then notify the BETA Team.

II. MISSION AND OBJECTIVES
The BETA Team’s mission is to provide a proactive, coordinated, and planned approach to the identification, assessment, management, and, where possible, reduction and/or prevention of behavior that falls into the HIGH Level of Concern, MODERATE Level of Concern, or LOW Level of Concern classifications defined below. Key objectives for the team include:

- Providing a repository for information about behavioral concerns across different campus units so as to identify persons in distress as early as possible;
- Facilitating timely communication among different campus units about individual behavioral concerns;
- Investigating or gathering additional information about individuals of concern, including individuals outside of the University community;
- Assessing the information so that the University can devise an appropriate response;
- Recommending interventions, threat management plans, active monitoring plans, and other case management strategies that connect individuals of concern with needed resources;
- Recommending plans for reintegrating a subject once initial actions are complete and the threat eliminated;
- Assisting with the education of the campus community about the types of behavior or concerns that they should report to team members; and
- Developing policy recommendations based on an evaluation of data on individual behavior dealt with by the team.

III. COVERAGE

These guidelines shall apply to all UAH students, faculty, staff, and visitors. These guidelines also apply to activities and events that occur on UAH-owned and/or controlled property, buildings, premises, facilities, etc. and to activities and events, regardless of the location, sponsored by UAH or by any UAH-recognized organizations.

These guidelines are not intended to be a set of inflexible requirements, nor are they intended to limit the appropriate discretion of officials as warranted by the specific circumstances of a particular individual/incident. The BETA Team is a problem-solving resource and not a replacement for appropriate managerial action. These guidelines do not provide for adjudication of misconduct by, discipline of, or imposition of sanctions on UAH students, faculty, staff, or visitors. Such action may be taken against individuals whose behavior is addressed under these guidelines pursuant to UAH’s student, faculty, or staff disciplinary policies and procedures as well as applicable federal, state, or local laws. These guidelines do not have the force and effect of law.

VI. DEFINITIONS

Threat: An intention, whether expressed or implied, to inflict physical injury or damage on or take hostile action with respect to an individual (oneself or another), a group of individuals, or property, whether the person communicating the threat has the ability to carry out the threat, whether the threat is made on a present, future, or conditional basis, or whether the threat is made in person, through another person, in writing, over the phone, in the mail, electronically, or by any other means.

Threat Management Plan: An active, individualized case management plan based on information gathered in an investigation and on other facts known about the subject(s). It is intended to help de-escalate, contain, or, if possible control, a subject who has exhibited behavior(s) classified by the BETA Team as “HIGH Level of Concern” as defined below; to decrease the vulnerabilities of possible targets of such behaviors; to discourage escalation of the circumstances; and to prepare for and mitigate against precipitating events that may trigger such behaviors.

Active Monitoring Plan: An active, individualized case monitoring plan based on information gathered in an investigation and on other facts known about the subject(s). It is intended to facilitate the monitoring of a subject who has exhibited “MODERATE Level of Concern” behavior as defined below and to provide for periodic re-assessment of a subject’s behavior and corresponding potential threat level. Active monitoring may also be used as follow-on to a HIGH Level of Concern threat management plan once a threat has diminished to MODERATE Level of Concern to ensure that behavior is effectively managed.

HIGH Level of Concern: Behavior that appears to pose a clear and immediate threat of violence or self-harm, and requires immediate containment. It requires law enforcement, target protection, and development of a threat management plan. It includes, but is not limited to:

- Possession of unauthorized weapons (guns, knives, etc.) on campus;
- Possession of bombs or bomb-making materials;
- Physical assault or attempted assault, with or without weapons;
- Specific threats to inflict harm to self and/or a named individual (e.g., a threat to shoot a named individual);
- Physical, drug-related, or psychiatric disorders that may pose a potential harm to the physical or emotional well-being of the individual or others;
- Physical actions short of actual contact/injury, but which appear intended to provoke a physical response from the target individual(s) (e.g., moving closer aggressively, waving arms or fists, yelling in an aggressive or threatening manner).

MODERATE Level of Concern: Risk to UAH students, faculty, staff, and visitors appears to be moderate. Violent action is possible, but not probable. Threat is still not entirely realistic in nature. Analysis of threat suggests some thought/action on how to go forward by person of concern, i.e. a specific time and location noted for actions. No clear indication of preparatory steps taken by person of concern. Person of concern may attempt to convey seriousness of situation. It includes, but is not limited to:
• General, specific, or implicit threats, whether or not made in a "joking" manner (e.g., "you better watch your back," "I'll get you," or "you'll be sorry"), including the use of any electronic means of communication;
• Stalking behavior;
• Vague statements regarding suicide or self-inflicted injury, violent thoughts, or violent intentions.

LOW Level of Concern: Behavior that, while it does not appear to pose a present threat of violence or self-harm or a significant risk of disruption, does provide the basis for a reasonable concern that a threat of violence or self-harm or significant risk of disruption may develop. Threat is vague and indirect in nature. Information within threat is inconsistent, implausible, or lacks detail. Threat is not realistic in nature/presentation. Available information suggests person of concern is unlikely to act violently. Examples include, but are not limited to:

• Writing stories, poems, or essays, or producing images that express or otherwise indicate a potentially dangerous fascination or preoccupation with violence to self or to others;
• Displaying a radical change in personal behavior, academic or workplace performance, appearance, or conduct.

No Identified Risk: Behavior that, subsequent to reporting and BETA Team investigation, does not appear to pose a threat of violence or self-harm at this time, nor is significant disruption to the community expected. The BETA Team will close such cases after proper documentation for future reference and trend analysis purposes.

Behavioral Evaluation and Threat Assessment (BETA) Team: A multi-disciplinary assessment team comprised of representatives from Academic Affairs, Dean of Students Office, Housing and Residence Life, College of Nursing, Human Resources, Counseling Services, UAHPD, Office of Risk Management and Compliance, Office of Diversity Equity and Inclusion (Title IX), Faculty Senate, and Staff Senate. The BETA Team reviews reports of alarming/concerning behavior and provides early intervention and support to individuals who present behavioral concerns.

Faculty or Staff: Any full or part-time employee of UAH, including, but not limited to, exempt or non-exempt staff, faculty, adjunct faculty, graduate research assistants, graduate teaching assistants, student workers, contract employees, and post-doctoral researchers/teachers/fellows (who have an employment relationship with UAH).

Student: Any individual enrolled at UAH in any of the recognized admission categories (undergraduate, graduate, etc.). An individual’s status as a student shall be deemed to encompass all activities carried out in connection with his/her application for admission to the University.
Visitor: Individuals who are not currently enrolled as students or employed with UAH (e.g., visitors, retirees, volunteers, former students, former employees, invitees, independent contractors, trespassers, etc.).

Workplace/Educational Setting: Any location, either permanent or temporary, where students, faculty, or staff perform any work-related duty or are involved in educational activities and/or University sanctioned events. This includes, but is not limited to, campus buildings and the surrounding perimeters, including the parking lots, field locations, student housing, and alternate work locations.

VII. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

A. BETA Principles and Procedures

1. Membership

The BETA Team consists of:

- Associate Provost (Chair, appointed by the Provost)
- Dean of Students
- Academic Dean (appointed by the Provost)
- Dean of the College of Nursing (or designee)
- Associate Vice President for Human Resources
- Director of Housing and Residence Life
- Title IX Coordinator (or designee)
- Director of Counseling Services
- Chief of Police
- Chief Risk and Compliance Officer (or designee)
- Faculty Senate Representative (nominated by the Faculty Senate for a three-year term)
- Staff Senate Representative (nominated by the Staff Senate for a three-year term)

A representative of the Office of Counsel will serve in an advisory capacity to the BETA Team. Additional ad hoc members may be included as required by the specific circumstances of a particular situation.

2. General Principles

The BETA Team will use a case-management based approach to respond to reports of students, faculty, and staff having difficulties and/or demonstrating concerning behaviors. The BETA Team should guide the process from internal assessment to recommending interventions with the objective of reducing the risk. This includes the development of a recommended plan for reintegration of the subject once initial actions are complete and the threat is eliminated.
The BETA Team will utilize available resources and additional members as appropriate to assist it in gathering information about a student, faculty, staff, or other university community member exhibiting behavioral concerns. The BETA Team may consult with other appropriate staff and/or medical/mental health experts in carrying out its assessment function. It is recognized that multi-disciplinary consultation is a critical part of the threat assessment protocol.

3. Process:

Report of Concern: The BETA Team may receive written or oral reports about behaviors of concern from any member of the campus community. An oral report, when needed depending on the situation, should be followed by a written report. Situations involving a HIGH Level of Concern should be immediately reported by the BETA Team to UAHPD. Persons reporting a MODERATE Level of Concern to the BETA Team should also be advised to report such matters directly to UAHPD.

Inquiry/Investigation: Upon receiving a report, the BETA Team will focus on determining whether or not the individual of concern poses, based on past and/or present behavior, a threat of violence or risk of disruption. The BETA Team may gather information and facts from all available sources. It will be granted limited access, as appropriate, to a student’s record, including his/her disciplinary record, and/or to a faculty or staff’s employment record. It may contact individuals with information about reported incidents or actions involving the individual of concern, as well as others (students, faculty, staff, local authorities, parents and family members, acquaintances, and other individuals who may know the individual or have pertinent knowledge). These inquiries may be made by the BETA Team acting as a convened group, a smaller group of designated members, or a designated BETA Team individual.

Assessment and Development of Plan: Based on information gathered by the BETA Team, a risk assessment shall be made of the subject individual’s reported behavior and that behavior will be classified as HIGH Level of Concern, MODERATE Level of Concern, LOW Level of Concern, or “no risk.” The BETA Team shall then develop a plan as outlined in these guidelines and as appropriate for the risk classification that has been assigned. The BETA Team will complete a risk assessment and develop a plan regardless of the outcome of any criminal proceedings initiated by law enforcement authorities and/or any disciplinary proceedings initiated by the University.

Referral/Recommendation: The BETA Team may make referrals or recommendations, as follows:

- Recommend actions to the appropriate University personnel including the Vice President of the pertinent administrative unit in each case. Recommended actions may include disciplinary procedures provided for by the Faculty, Staff, and/or Student Handbooks.

- Recommend that the subject faculty or staff member or student be referred for professional counseling and/or professional psychological assessment.
- Make recommendation(s) for the filing of criminal charges.
- Make recommendations for other actions as deemed appropriate.
- In case of a referral, appropriate federal and state laws regarding privacy will be followed.

Conclusion: Once the BETA Team has determined that the individual of concern does not pose or no longer poses a threat of violence or risk of significant disruption, the matter will be considered closed for the purposes of these guidelines. Involved parties may be informed when a situation is concluded. Reports regarding the disposition of the incident will be conveyed to the affected reporting individual(s), whenever possible and allowed by law.

- If follow up of a student is required or appropriate, the student of concern will be monitored by the Student Affairs and Academic Affairs offices.
- If follow up of a faculty or staff member of concern is required or appropriate, the employee will be monitored by his/her supervisor, Employee Assistance Program (EAP) personnel, Academic Affairs (for faculty), and/or Human Resources (for staff/researchers).

Action by Other Officials: The closing of a matter by the BETA Team is completely independent of, and will have no effect upon:

- For any individual of concern, the initiation or continuation of a law enforcement investigation into the individual’s conduct by campus or local law enforcement authorities and/or the institution of criminal proceedings against such individual.
- For a student of concern, referral for professional counseling, referral for professional psychological assessment, the initiation of student disciplinary proceedings, or other appropriate action by Student Affairs or by Academic Affairs officials.
- For a faculty or staff member of concern, referral for professional counseling, referral for professional psychological assessment, the imposition of disciplinary sanctions or the initiation of disciplinary proceedings, or other appropriate action by the faculty or staff member’s supervisor or other authorized officials.

It is anticipated that conduct violating University policy or rules or federal, local or state law will be addressed by institutional or civil/criminal proceedings initiated by those officials with the enforcement responsibility for such policy, rules, or law.

4. Meetings:
The Chair of the BETA Team will call an emergency meeting as soon as is practicable upon receipt of a report of conduct that may fall into the HIGH Level of Concern classification. In such situations, BETA membership duties should supersede all other responsibilities. The BETA Team should ordinarily meet within 72 hours of receipt of an initial report regarding conduct that appears to fall into the MODERATE Level of Concern behavior classification, and it should meet within a reasonable time under all the circumstances with respect to conduct that appears to fall into the LOW Level of Concern behavior classification. As long as there are active cases being addressed under a Threat Management Plan or an Active Monitoring Plan, the BETA Team should meet regularly. A representative of the Office of Counsel shall attend all BETA Team meetings, emergency or otherwise, in an advisory capacity.

5. Report:

A report of BETA activities will be submitted to the President and Provost at the end of every semester. This report will be in summary form, including numbers and actions only. Names of reporting persons and persons of concern shall never be included in any reports outside of BETA.

B. University Community Responsibilities

Each member of the UAH community has a role and responsibility in helping promote a safe and secure environment for the University.

All persons are strongly encouraged to be aware of their surroundings and to be alert for behavior that may present a threat of violence or risk of disruption. Students, faculty, and staff should be familiar with these guidelines and with the methods for reporting actual or potential threats to the UAH community.

See Something, Say Something: Members of the UAH community (students, faculty, and staff) are encouraged to immediately report any situation that involves concerning behavior by a student, faculty, staff, or campus visitor; behavior that is or may be threatening to the health and safety of the individual or of others; or behavior that is or may be disruptive to the University’s educational, research, and administrative activities. Any member of the University community who becomes aware of such a situation should report the matter to the BETA Team and/or UAHPD as appropriate to the observed behavior (see Section I: A,B,C for information on how to report).

Students, faculty, and staff who in good faith make such reports shall not be subjected to retaliation or harassment by UAH or any of its officials.

The making of a false or misleading report under these guidelines, with knowledge of or reckless indifference as to the falsity of the matters reported, may be considered misconduct under applicable conduct policies and may result in disciplinary action under UAH's student, faculty, and/or staff disciplinary procedures.

C. Security Planning for Potentially At-Risk Faculty, Staff, and Students

Some faculty or staff can be at risk for violence/hostility because of the nature of their jobs. Other students, faculty, and staff can be at risk because they are subject to violence, threats, or harassment from a current or former spouse or partner, or other third party. UAHPD, Human Resources, the Dean of Students Office, Counseling Services, and other offices will work with at-risk students, faculty, and staff to develop safety plans that address the specific risks they face.

1. Domestic/Partner Violence in the University Environment: In an effort to promote a safer work environment, faculty and staff who are victims of domestic violence or who believe they may be the target or victim of such violence, should promptly notify their supervisor, an appropriate administrator, Human Resources, the BETA Team, or UAHPD. Faculty and staff may have additional services available through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and should contact the Human Resources Benefits Coordinator at 256-824-6545 for a listing of available EAP resources.

Likewise, to promote a safer educational setting, students who are victims of domestic violence or who believe they may be the target of such violence, are encouraged to promptly notify the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, the Dean of Students, the BETA Team, or UAHPD. Confidential advocacy services are available to students through Counseling Services.

Students, faculty, and staff who have Protective Orders should provide copies to UAHPD so that this office can:

- Ensure appropriate law enforcement actions occur; and
- Assist in maintaining the safety of potential victims.

Examples of Protective Orders may include:

- Any order issued by a court that is intended to prevent one party from approaching another, often within a specified distance; or
- Any order issued by a court that is meant to protect a person from harm or harassment.

2. Pre-Employment Screening and Criminal Conviction Background Checks: Human Resources administers the University's policies on pre-employment screening and background reference checks. Accordingly, Human Resources will advise hiring managers when potential problems are identified during this process.
VIII. REPORTING THREATS AND VIOLENCE

A. Emergency Situations – HIGH Level of Concern Behavior

A situation possibly involving HIGH Level of Concern behavior should be considered an emergency and should be immediately reported to UAHPD. UAHPD may be reached as follows:

- 6911 from a campus phone;
- 256-824-6911 from a cellular or off-campus phone;
- 911 from any phone (off-campus calls go to Madison County 9-1-1 Center).

Examples of HIGH Level of Concern, emergency situations include, but are not limited to the following:

- Possession of unauthorized weapons (guns, knives, etc.) on campus;
- Possession of bombs or bomb-making materials;
- Physical assault or attempted assault, with or without weapons;
- Specific threats to inflict harm to self and/or a named individual (e.g., a threat to shoot a named individual).

B. Non-Emergency Situations – MODERATE Level of Concern and LOW Level of Concern Behavior:

Any situation involving a threat of violence or a risk of disruption that lacks immediacy and is clearly not within the “HIGH Level of Concern” classification should be reported pursuant to this section.

UAH’s Charger 360 (https://www.uah.edu/Charger360) provides a centralized way for UAH community members to report concerns and incidents or address observed difficulties that may impede a person’s success at UAH. Reporting a person of concern, where there does not appear to be an immediate risk, may be done as follows:

- Online through the Charger 360 tool: https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?UnivofAlabamaHuntsville&layout_id=6. (Reports may be submitted anonymously);
- Reports of concerning student behavior should be made to the Dean of Students by calling (256) 824-6700;
- Reports of concerning faculty member behavior should be made to Human Resources or the appropriate academic dean;
- Reports of concerning staff behavior should be made to the Human Resources office at (256) 824-2286, or to the employee’s supervisor.

Examples of conduct that may, depending on the circumstances, be considered appropriate for reporting as “non-emergency situations” include the following:
• A radical change in a person’s behavior, academic or workplace performance, appearance, or conduct;
• Aggressive or irrational behavior through words and/or actions;
• Severe depression, unhappiness, or irregular emotional behavior;
• Inability to control anger, confrontational or disturbing words or actions;
• Unusual overreaction to normal circumstances;
• A threat that lacks immediacy;
• Intentional damage to property;
• Unusual nervousness, tension, or anxiety;
• Expression of suicidal thoughts, feelings, or acts;
• Any other action, word, or behavior that one may reasonably believe could lead to violence;
• Threatening statements, displays, photos, or other publications in electronic format or communication;
• Other examples as found in risk definitions above (see Section IV).

IX. CONFIDENTIALITY

Members of the BETA Team will make every reasonable effort to maintain the confidentiality of information disclosed to it in the course of its activities. The BETA Team will take reasonable steps to maintain the privacy of those who make a referral, if requested. If the circumstances do not allow privacy to be maintained, this will be discussed with the person making the referral. Information will be released on a need-to-know basis within the campus community and in accordance with local, state, and federal laws and UAH policies. UAH administrators will be sensitive and responsive to the potential for reprisal directed at faculty, staff, or students who report behavior within the scope of these guidelines. All records will be appropriately maintained or disposed of, depending on investigation outcomes. Responsibility for BETA records resides with the UAH Office of Counsel, which will maintain the records for a period of seven (7) years.

X. EDUCATION AND TRAINING

A. University Community Training

For this program to be effective, it is important for the UAH community to be aware of these guidelines and the BETA Team, the kinds of behaviors encompassed within these guidelines, the importance of reporting such behaviors, and how to contact members of the BETA Team with concerns or comments.

Information regarding the BETA Team, its purpose, and this Policy will be periodically incorporated into faculty and staff training workshops, new faculty, staff, and student orientation sessions, and regularly scheduled safety programs presented by UAHPD, Office of Risk Management and Compliance, Human Resources, and other campus health and safety organizations as appropriate. In addition, the BETA Team will provide an overview of the program, listing of Team members, and reporting guidance and instructions by way of the UAH web site and other modes of communication it deems appropriate.

Training for students, faculty, and staff should consist of, but is not limited to, the following:

- Informational Opportunities: Presentations, brochure distribution, emails to all students, faculty, and staff, student orientation sessions, employee orientation sessions, and web page development addressing the following:
  - What is the BETA Team and what is its mission;
  - What characteristics to look for in persons of concern; and
  - How to submit a report to the BETA Team.
- Educational opportunities: Unit/departmental safety meetings, campus safety and security presentations, and student/organization safety presentations.
- Training Opportunities: In-depth training to assist members of the campus community in developing a skill set for assessing behavior that presents a threat of violence or a risk of disruption.

Department heads are encouraged to schedule training for supervisors and managers and to provide similar training for other staff as appropriate.

B. BETA Team Training and Education

It is expected that the BETA Team members identified above (Section VII.A) will participate in threat assessment training and professional development opportunities, and will be familiar with laws, regulations, and UAH policies applicable to the scope of the BETA Team’s mission.

C. A Note on the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

FERPA protects student education records and information in them from disclosure, subject to certain recognized exceptions. One such exception allows a UAH official to make disclosure when an emergency exists and disclosure is necessary to protect the health or safety of the student or other individuals. The determination of whether or not “necessity” exists requires a consideration of the seriousness of the health or safety threat, the urgency of the matter, the need for the information, and the ability of the recipient of the information to deal with the emergency. The Chief of Police, the Dean of Students, or the Office of Counsel may provide assistance in making this determination.

In addition, it is important to understand that a faculty or staff member’s observations of a student’s behavior are not within the scope of FERPA. For example, if a faculty or staff member sees a student exhibiting threatening behavior, the faculty or staff member may contact an appropriate University official for guidance on how to respond. In such a situation, an appropriate official might include members of the BETA Team, UAHPD, Counseling Services, the Dean of Students, a dean, a department chair, etc.

Disclosure of confidential student information to parents should only be made when consistent with FERPA and then only through the Dean of Students Office. The release of information about University students to the media should only be made by the University’s Office of Marketing and Communications.

Review

The Office of Risk Management and Compliance, in consultation with the BETA Team, is responsible for reviewing and updating these guidelines every five (5) years, or more frequently if organizational or situational changes warrant.

These guidelines and all subsequent revisions shall be included as an annex to the University’s Emergency Management Plan.
