

“I established this scholarship to show my appreciation for the profound impact a literary education from UAH has had on my every endeavor. I want to enrich the personal lives of the students who receive it by encouraging the study of literature, regardless of the recipients’ career choices. I hope that through their studies they will come to share my appreciation of the richness, beauty and perpetual delight that come from language.”

— Dr. Deborah Barnhart

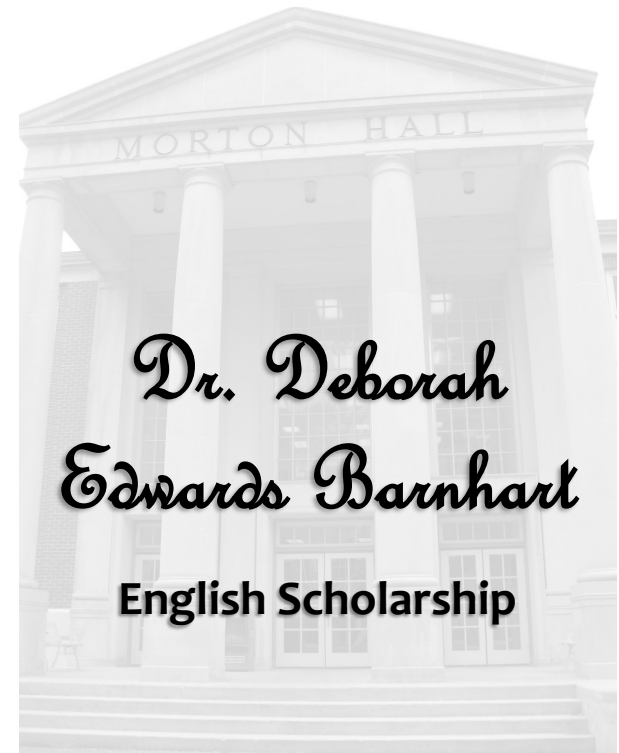

For more information about supporting scholarship opportunities in English at UAH or about English studies, contact:

Department of English

eh@uah.edu

(256) 824-6320

Online: uah.edu/English

College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences

Enhancing Opportunities in English Studies

Dr. Deborah Edwards Barnhart English Scholarship

The Dr. Deborah Edwards Barnhart English Scholarship will be awarded annually to an English major or minor at UAH. Your gift will increase the initial endowment provided through the generosity of Dr. Deborah Barnhart, UAH alumna and English major.

Since the early years of the Huntsville campus, the English Department has helped shape a role for arts, humanities, and social sciences within University programs.

The Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences

- ♦ cultivate individual development in the context of practical work and community life
- ♦ provide personal and professional resources for all of the stages of life
- ♦ foster critical thinking and clear expression

Some English studies at UAH are directed toward specific career skills:

- ♦ writing pedagogy
- ♦ technical and business writing
- ♦ teaching English to speakers of other languages

English students also study our cultural heritage through literature:

- ♦ Beowulf and Milton on heroism and freedom
- ♦ Shakespeare and Wordsworth on personality and inwardness
- ♦ Chaucer and Eliot on women's experience
- ♦ Austen and Faulkner on integrity and estrangement