UAH offers a specialized Honors curriculum for upper-division nursing students. This curriculum guides you through high-level research in the science of nursing.
The UAH Honors Nursing Program will help you

- Develop an original research study on a topic about which you are passionate
- Carry out this research under the direction of a faculty member
- Create oral presentations, posters, and publications to disseminate your research findings
- Write grant applications and potentially receive funding for your research study

Benefits of an Honors Nursing Diploma

- An opportunity to work within a tightly knit community of high-achieving nursing students
- Excellent preparation to pursue your graduate work in nursing
- The ability to become a leader and use your research to change nursing practice

Early Promotion into UAH Nursing Program (EPNP)

EPNP guarantees a slot in upper-division nursing courses to highly qualified nursing students who enter UAH as freshmen and declare nursing as their major. To keep this guaranteed slot, students must take all lower-division nursing courses and meet certain requirements listed on the College of Nursing website. Because EPNP students qualify for Honors, it is expected that students will apply for and enroll in the Honors College as well.

To view the Honors Nursing curriculum, please visit uah.edu/honors and click on “Courses” to learn more.